What Did the Horses Do? In Canada They Mean It. Cromwell, Milton, The S-4. This Great Century.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1928.)

THE racetracks of Maryland decide that Harry Sinclair, who races horses, is not pure enough. He is barred.

Those that have studied intellectual faces that gather on the various racetracks, particularly in the betting ring, will agree that if a man isn't pure enough for that crowd there must be something serious the matter with him.

THE greatest American racing association in the state of New York, has not barred Mr. Sinclair, perhaps because "to the pure all things are pure" or because, after all, Mr. Sinclair's horses didn't get any of the oil bonds.

REPUBLICAN Senators that reply to disgraceful facts by trying to smirch Democrats are not impressive. They should get rid of their bribe-givers and bribe-takers. A man convicted of chicken stealing does not help his case by trying to prove that some one else stole chickens.

IT seems hard to eliminate the conviction in some of our "best minds" that the shortest road to what you want is the road of bribery.

Hiram Johnson, of California, says that in connection with proposed public works, Colorado River, etc., there is being raised a slush fund that would make all others look like "chicken feed."

DORIS MacDONALD, a young American girl, convicted of helping her husband murder a taxi driver for his money, was to have been hanged in Canada. Partly because of appeals and protests from the United States, perhaps, the authorities have commuted her punishment to life imprisonment.

THIS country also hangs women, and our protests to Canada are queer.

Canada sets us a good example in one thing. There, as in England, justice is justice, and not a joke.

When they sentence a murderer to life imprisonment, it MEANS life imprisonment, not a few years in jail and a chance to go murdering again.

THE submarine S-4 is raised, the pathetic remaining bodies of the brave officers and men are found "showing signs of a desperate struggle for life." And "there is an earnest and careful search for any diary that might have been left by the men."

NO diary will be found probably. Men in action don't say much or write much. Two men will fight to the death with not a word spoken, only an occasional growl.

Cromwell, one of the greatest fighters the world ever knew, made Britain his own, dominated Europe, and his written words were so few you could put them all on a few sheets of paper. Milton, his private secretary, on the other hand, poured out words abundantly and beautifully. Milton was not in action, Cromwell was.

MR. FIRESTONE, who makes automobile tires is busy in Ohio. His son, Harvey Firestone, Jr., is on the Firestone rubber plantation in Africa. Father Firestone from now on will communicate every day with Son Firestone in Africa by radio.

AT the same time Thomas F. Ryan, who, as the late J. Pierpont Morgan said, "could have been the richest man in the world if he had cared to take the trouble," sends his diamonds by airplane from the middle of Africa to be cut in Holland and sold in London.

THE human race has done a good deal since this century started. Yet when it started, chemists said they knew about all they ever could hope to know, science generally thought it had reached the top, and the great Wallace, who discovered evolution with Darwin, in his "Man's Place in the Universe," decided that intelligence exists only on this little earth. Some of the really great cosmic intelligences would laugh at that, if cosmic intelligence ever laughs.

NINETY Representatives, only one Senator accepted Col. Lindbergh's invitation to fly and see how safe it is. Representatives are younger. The older Senators know they will soon have to take a long upward flight, with no return ticket, and are willing to wait for that.

WITH the latest invention, the flying pilot, looking at a dial controlled by radio, realizes instantly any deviation from the true course mapped out. That instrument, with another telling the plane's height above ground, will make fogs of no consequence, apart from collision.

The flier will go through them as easily as a locomotive engineer goes through a dark tunnel.

STABS POLICEMAN FREED OF MURDER

UPROAR GRIPS COURT

COLUMBIANA, Ala., March 22.—(AP.)—H. F. Blake, Calera chief of police, was fired at and then stabbed by two women in Circuit Court here today just after he had been acquitted of the murder of their relative, Miss Louise Monteabaro.

Mrs. Mabel Monteabaro, mother of the girl, fired a pistol from a distance of about five feet as Blake was being congratulated by his friends. The shot went wild. Miss Cecil Tubbs, an aunt of the girl, leaped at the police chief, drawing a knife, as she flung herself toward him, and stabbed him in the neck. Blake fell, the blood streaming from the wound.

The courtroom was in a turmoil in a moment, and Charlie C. McCall, state attorney general, who had personally prosecuted Blake, fainted from the excitement. Doctors said they could not tell from their first examination whether Blake's wound would be fatal. He had toppled into the jury box from which the men who freed him were slowly filing out. They assisted in

"GUN RULE" AT PITS BARED

Governor "Dictates" His Terms to Senate Committee for His Testimony.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(AP.)—The questionnaire submitted by Gov. Fisher to the Senate coal investigation committee in reply to its invitation for him to appear as a witness will be answered "in substance," the committee decided today.

Chairman Watson, of Indiana, said the answer to the Pennsylvania Governor would repeat the invitation for him to testify.

"This is being done as a matter of courtesy to Gov. Fisher," said Watson, "and the answer to his questions will be made in accordance with our duty in the investigation as defined by the resolution adopted by the Senate."

FISHER TELLS "TERMS"

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 22.—Gov. John S. Fisher, in a letter to Senator James E. Watson, Indiana, yesterday virtually told the Senator he would appear before the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce to discuss the bituminous coal strike situation only upon certain conditions.

Watson, as chairman of the committee, Tuesday sent a letter to the governor "kindly requesting" him to confer with the committee. His letter to the governor followed statements by members of the Gooding sub-committee that the governor's speeches at Easton and Scranton last week were "insults" to the committee and to the Senate.

The governor asks whether executives of other bituminous producing states will also be invited to confer with the committee. The first state in the list which he suggests, is Senator Watson's home state, Indiana.

He also demands to know "whether the committee assumes the position that the governor of a state is answerable to it, and through it to the United States Senate, for the exercise of his official duties and prerogatives."

The governor's letter also desires the information whether he will have the same liberty of asking questions of the committee members as the committee expects to exercise in quizzing the governor; and that he be informed what information the committee disires so that he may be prepared with it if he appears before the committee.

The governor's letter, which was sent to Watson's Washington office by special messenger today, follows:

Dear Senator Watson:

GOVERNOR'S LETTER

"I am in receipt of your favor of the nineteenth instant, advising me that the Interstate Commerce Committee of the Senate invites my presence for the purpose of giving such testimony as I may care to give, and answering such questions as members of the com-

Union Chiefs Expose Alleged Oppression at Ohio and W. Va. Pits.

By MAX HENRICI,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—As Van A. Bittner, chief representative of the United Mine Workers in northern West Virginia, was telling the Senate coal strike investigation committee today about evictions and injunctions in his territory, John L. Lewis, international president of the union, entered the committee room and dramatically interrupted the hearing with the announcement that five coal companies in eastern Ohio had just applied in the United States Court at Columbus for a mandatory injunction for the eviction of 400 families of striking miners from their homes.

"This is the most detestable form of oppression in America," exclaimed the miners' chieftain.

Seek Delay

Lewis said a hearing in the case had been set for next Saturday, and the union's attorneys and its Ohio officers would have to attend. He suggested that the Senate committee ask for a postponement, that its investigation might not be interrupted.

William P. Belden, counsel for the eastern Ohio operators, who was present, said they had given the families ample notice to vacate and would brook no further delay. But at the suggestion of Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, chairman of the committee, he consented to get in touch with his clients and propose that the hearing at Columbus be postponed.

Outside Domination

Bittner took the stand when the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee resumed its inquiry into the coal strike early today.

He began his testimony by reading into the record a statement by T. C. Townsend, former tax commissioner of West Virginia, concerning "absentee ownership" in that state. He said that West Virginia had an area of 15,360,000 acres and that about half of the land was owned by non-resident corporations. Two hundred and ten corporations, none of which holds less than 10,000 acres, own 6,025,930 acres. The land owned by the corporations was worth five times as much, it was said, as that held by residents of West Virginia, but the residents pay twice the amount of taxes paid by the corporations.

Bittner said he presented this to show the importance of considering

RADIO PLANE HOPS OFF FROM BETTIS FIELD

Against a southwest gale the New York American radio plane, Toledo Leader-ship, today made its way westward in a thrilling flight following the take-off from Bettis Field at 8:05 a. m. The mud which prevented departure yesterday had dried sufficiently to give the wheels traction.

"We are pitching and heaving like a ship in a heavy sea," was the radio message received by station KDKA from W. G. Fisk, operator on the plane at 9:09 a. m.

A few minutes later another message followed:

"We are about 60 miles from Pittsburgh. We dropped 500 feet nearer the earth and the air is not so 'bumpy,' but we still experience strong winds from the southwest. As we leave on our way to the coast we desire again to thank KDKA, The Sun-Telegraph and all who made our stay in Pittsburgh pleasant."

The plane was in charge of Lieut. G. W. Hopkins, pilot, and Operator Fisk. Capt. H. Gordon Smith, R. J. Wall and John Ingram, the other members of the party, left last night by train for Columbus, O.

REACHES COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, O., March 22.—(INS.)—The New York American, Toledo Leader-ship, all-America tour plane, arrived here at 10:55 a. m. today from Pittsburgh. After a short stay, the plane hopped off at 12:44 p. m. for Wright Field, Dayton, the next stop of the ship on its 10,000-mile trans-continental voyage. From Dayton the ship and its five passengers will proceed to Lunken airport, Cincinnati.

Attack on Mellon Shelved

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The American Government has lost hundreds of millions of dollars through illegal tax settlements, favoring corporations and big business men, under the administration of Andrew W. Mellon as secretary of the Treasury, Senator James Couzens, of Michigan, charged in the Senate this afternoon in launching the debate on his resolution demanding Mellon's resignation.

Couzens charged Mellon held his office illegally because the secretary owned stock in 40 diffrent corporations in violation of law. He said he could prove no personal wrong doing by Mellon, but that the Senate's inquiry into the Internal Revenue Bureau had shown huge tax losses under Mellon's administration of the Treasury.

"There were many unlawful or illegal settlements," said Couzens. "We even found memoranda on William Edward Hickman, convicted murderer of 12-year-old Marian Parker in Los Angeles, has been taken to the famous San Quentin prison to await his death by hanging, April 27. He is shown in these pictures stepping into his last home, a cell in the death block, with Welby Hunt, 17, convicted as his accomplice in the murder of a druggist, at his side.

2 WOMEN SLUGGED; 1 MAY DIE

Two women were beaten by Negroes last night and one made the victim of a brutal attack after she had fought desperately with her assailant who slashed her with a razor and beat her on the head with a revolver. The women are Mrs. Anna Glover, 44, of 164 Georgetown avenue, West View, and Mrs. Johanna Harvey, 27, of 2508 Wyandotte street. Mrs. Glover is in the Allegheny General Hospital in a serious condition and Mrs. Harvey is under treatment in her home.

WAITING FOR SON

Mrs. Glover was cut on the hands and legs when she fought with the Negro after he had dragged her into a vacant lot in Sampson street near Federal street, North Side. She was struck on the head with the butt end of a revolver and robbed of her purse containing $65, her month's pay. Mrs. Harvey was beaten near her home.

Mrs. Glover, an employe of the Iron City Heating Company had finished work shortly before midnight and had gone to Jackson and Buena Vista streets where she was to meet her son, Thomas, aged 22. While waiting at the corner a Negro approached and pressed a revolver against her side, forcing her to walk to Sampson street. At the entrance of the vacant lot the Negro seized the woman and dragged her into the darkness. She struggled and was cut on the hands with the razor and hit on the head with a revolver. After attacking and robbing the woman the Negro fled.

The victim staggered to her feet and hurried back to the corner where she collapsed in the arms of her son. Her clothing torn, and bleeding from several deep lacerations, the woman was taken to the hospital where police talked to her.

An operation to unite the severed tendons in the woman's hands was performed this morning. Her condition is fair.

USED FLOWER POT

Mrs. Harvey was struck on the head with a flower pot by the Negro footpad who stepped up behind her as she was walking in front of her home. She screamed as she fell to the pavement and the Negro seized her, attempting to stifle her call for help.

The woman continued to scream and the man ran. Firemen from No. 8 Engine Company found the woman and sent her to the Passavant Hospital where four stitches were placed in the wound on her head. The woman's husband is Delas Harvey, a fire captain at No. 8 Engine Company, Webster avenue near Chatham street.

GANG KILLS CHICAGO "CZAR"

By GENE HOFFMAN.
International News Service.

CHICAGO, March 22.—"Diamond Joe" Esposito, powerful Italian leader whose picturesque career has been lived on the twilight border between rowdyism and respectability, is dead today, a victim of gangster bullets.

"Diamond Joe"—christened Guiseppi—was shot down within a few feet of his home last night as he returned from a Twenty-fifth Ward political meeting. He died on the way to the county hospital.

Three men, armed with revolvers and sawed-off shotguns, poured a volley of leaden bullets and poisoned slugs into Esposito's back from a closed automobile in which they had pulled up to the curb.

Ralph and Joe Varchetto, brothers, and reputed bodyguards of Esposito, were being held today on suspicion that they had put their chief "on the spot" for his enemies.

SEE BETRAYAL

The brothers were accompanying the Italian leader to his home when the assassins' car pulled up to the curb. Both fled when the gangsters opened fire. The fact that neither bodyguard was wounded in the wild shooting led police to believe that they had betrayed Esposito.

Joe Montana, a notorious character on the West Side, was also taken into custody by police.

After Esposito had collapsed on the sidewalk two of the assassins leaped to his side to ascertain if he were dead. Then, while the third man remained at the wheel of the car, these two returned to the machine and administered a sort of coup de grace, firing a final round into Esposito's prostrate form. The car then sped away.

At the county hospital 58 bullet wounds were found in the body. The shotgun slugs bore evidence of having been covered with poison.

Esposito, recognized leader of the Italian element and union labor czar, was Republican chief in the Twenty-fifth Ward and a backer of United States Senator Charles S. Deneen.

"Diamond Joe" was loved by his people for his philanthropies, which he dispensed to needy Italian families, quietly and without ostentation. He came to America from a village near Naples in 1895, moving to Chicago in 1905.

Old mine workings, 35 feet under the ground, are believed to be responsible for the cracks. Adventurous persons explored a part of the abandoned coal mines under the district and found large falls of slate under Fell street. Braces in large chambers were reported removed and it is thought unknown men were stealing coal and timbers from the old mine, weakening the roof and causing slate falls. It is expected the ground will not drop much more in Fell street.

Headquarters of the Knights of the Silver Moon were moved temporarily today from "The Den," electrically-protected lodge rooms in the basement of a Mt. Oliver apartment building, to the county detectives' bertillon room, where pictures and finger prints were taken of the leading Knights.

Detectives say the Knights are responsible for numerous robberies of South Hills stores. Their most recent job, the sleuths allege, was at the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company store, 715 Brownsville road, last Friday night. The reported loot was $100 in merchandise.

Four of the Knights arrested are Jack Fleming, 15, of 619 Transfer street; Lawrence O'Malley, 17, of Hays avenue, and Stanley Gorske, 17, and his brother, Albert, 15, of 126 Giffen avenue, all in Mt. Oliver.

Hungarians Given City's Key While Slavs Behave

300 POLICE ESCORT GUESTS

Pittsburgh today was turned over officially and sentimentally to a delegation of Magyar noblemen, Hungarian statesmen and business and professional men of Budapest. With the keys to the city, and with the eloquent welcome of Mayor Charles H. Kline ringing in their ears, the visitors are viewing the wonder of Pittsburgh's industries and are drinking deep of Western Pennsylvania's historic lore.

Hospitality toward the 300 good-will tourists from Hungary was extended along with a police demonstration such as Pittsburgh has seldom seen. Following the repeated protests of Slavic residents, who opposed the coming of the Magyars, no chances were taken in having the welcoming program interrupted, and 300 patrolmen, traffic officers, mounted patrolmen and motorcycle police formed a cordon around the City-County Building during the exercises. No protesters appeared and the ceremonies were carried out on schedule and with eclat.

Mayor Kline had a cordial handshake and a welcoming remark for each of the 300 and when he had finished he received a cheer from every man and woman in the delegation as he pointed to the portraits of the former mayors of Pittsburgh and declared: "You are now, ladies and gentlemen, in the finest municipal reception room in the world."

The visitors then proceeded to the Council Chamber, which was transformed into a reception salon rivaling the mayor's in beauty.

The reception was notable for two speeches of welcome, both by Mayor Kline. Said Mayor Kline:

"We acknowledge Hungary's contribution to this Republic in sending us her hardy sons and daughters, who, assimilating the best ideals of Americanism, have done their part to make this the 'land of the free and the home of the brave!' "

PRESENT PICTURES

After the Baron Perenyi's speech, in which he was almost moved to tears in pronouncing his gratitude for the sympathy of America in the starving days following the World War, the High Lord Mayor of Budapest presented two framed pastel pictures of the Hungarian capitol and parliament buildings, declaring that he was the first chief magistrate of that Hungarian city to visit Pittsburgh. He then followed with an extended description of his home city.

The delegation toured the city and had luncheon at the H. J. Heinz plant.

"The feelings of our people toward you and your fellow-countrymen, as expressed by me, are as true as the steel that comes from our mills, as enduring as the hills that temple our habitation. May your stay be pleasant, interesting, informative and fruitful," the Mayor said in parting.

After visiting various industrial plants and a circle through the residential districts, the visitors were given a short period of rest before the dinner which will be tendered them at the William Penn Hotel tonight. Mayor Kline will be toastmaster. Tomorrow at noon the delegation will be the guests of the Chamber of Commerce.

JAIL THREATENS VARE AIDE

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The Reed slush fund committee today cited Thomas W. Cunningham, prominent Vare leader and former clerk of the Philadelphia Quarter Sessions Court, for contempt of the Senate and demanded his immediate arrest.

A resolution, introduced by Senator King (D.) of Utah, along with a report on Cunningham's defiance of the committee, asked that the Senate's sergeant-at-arms be instructed to arrest the Philadelphian and bring him before the bar of the Senate for prosecution on contempt charges. King announced he would ask action on the resolution tomorrow.

This was the procedure followed against Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the Standard Oil of Indiana, several weeks ago.

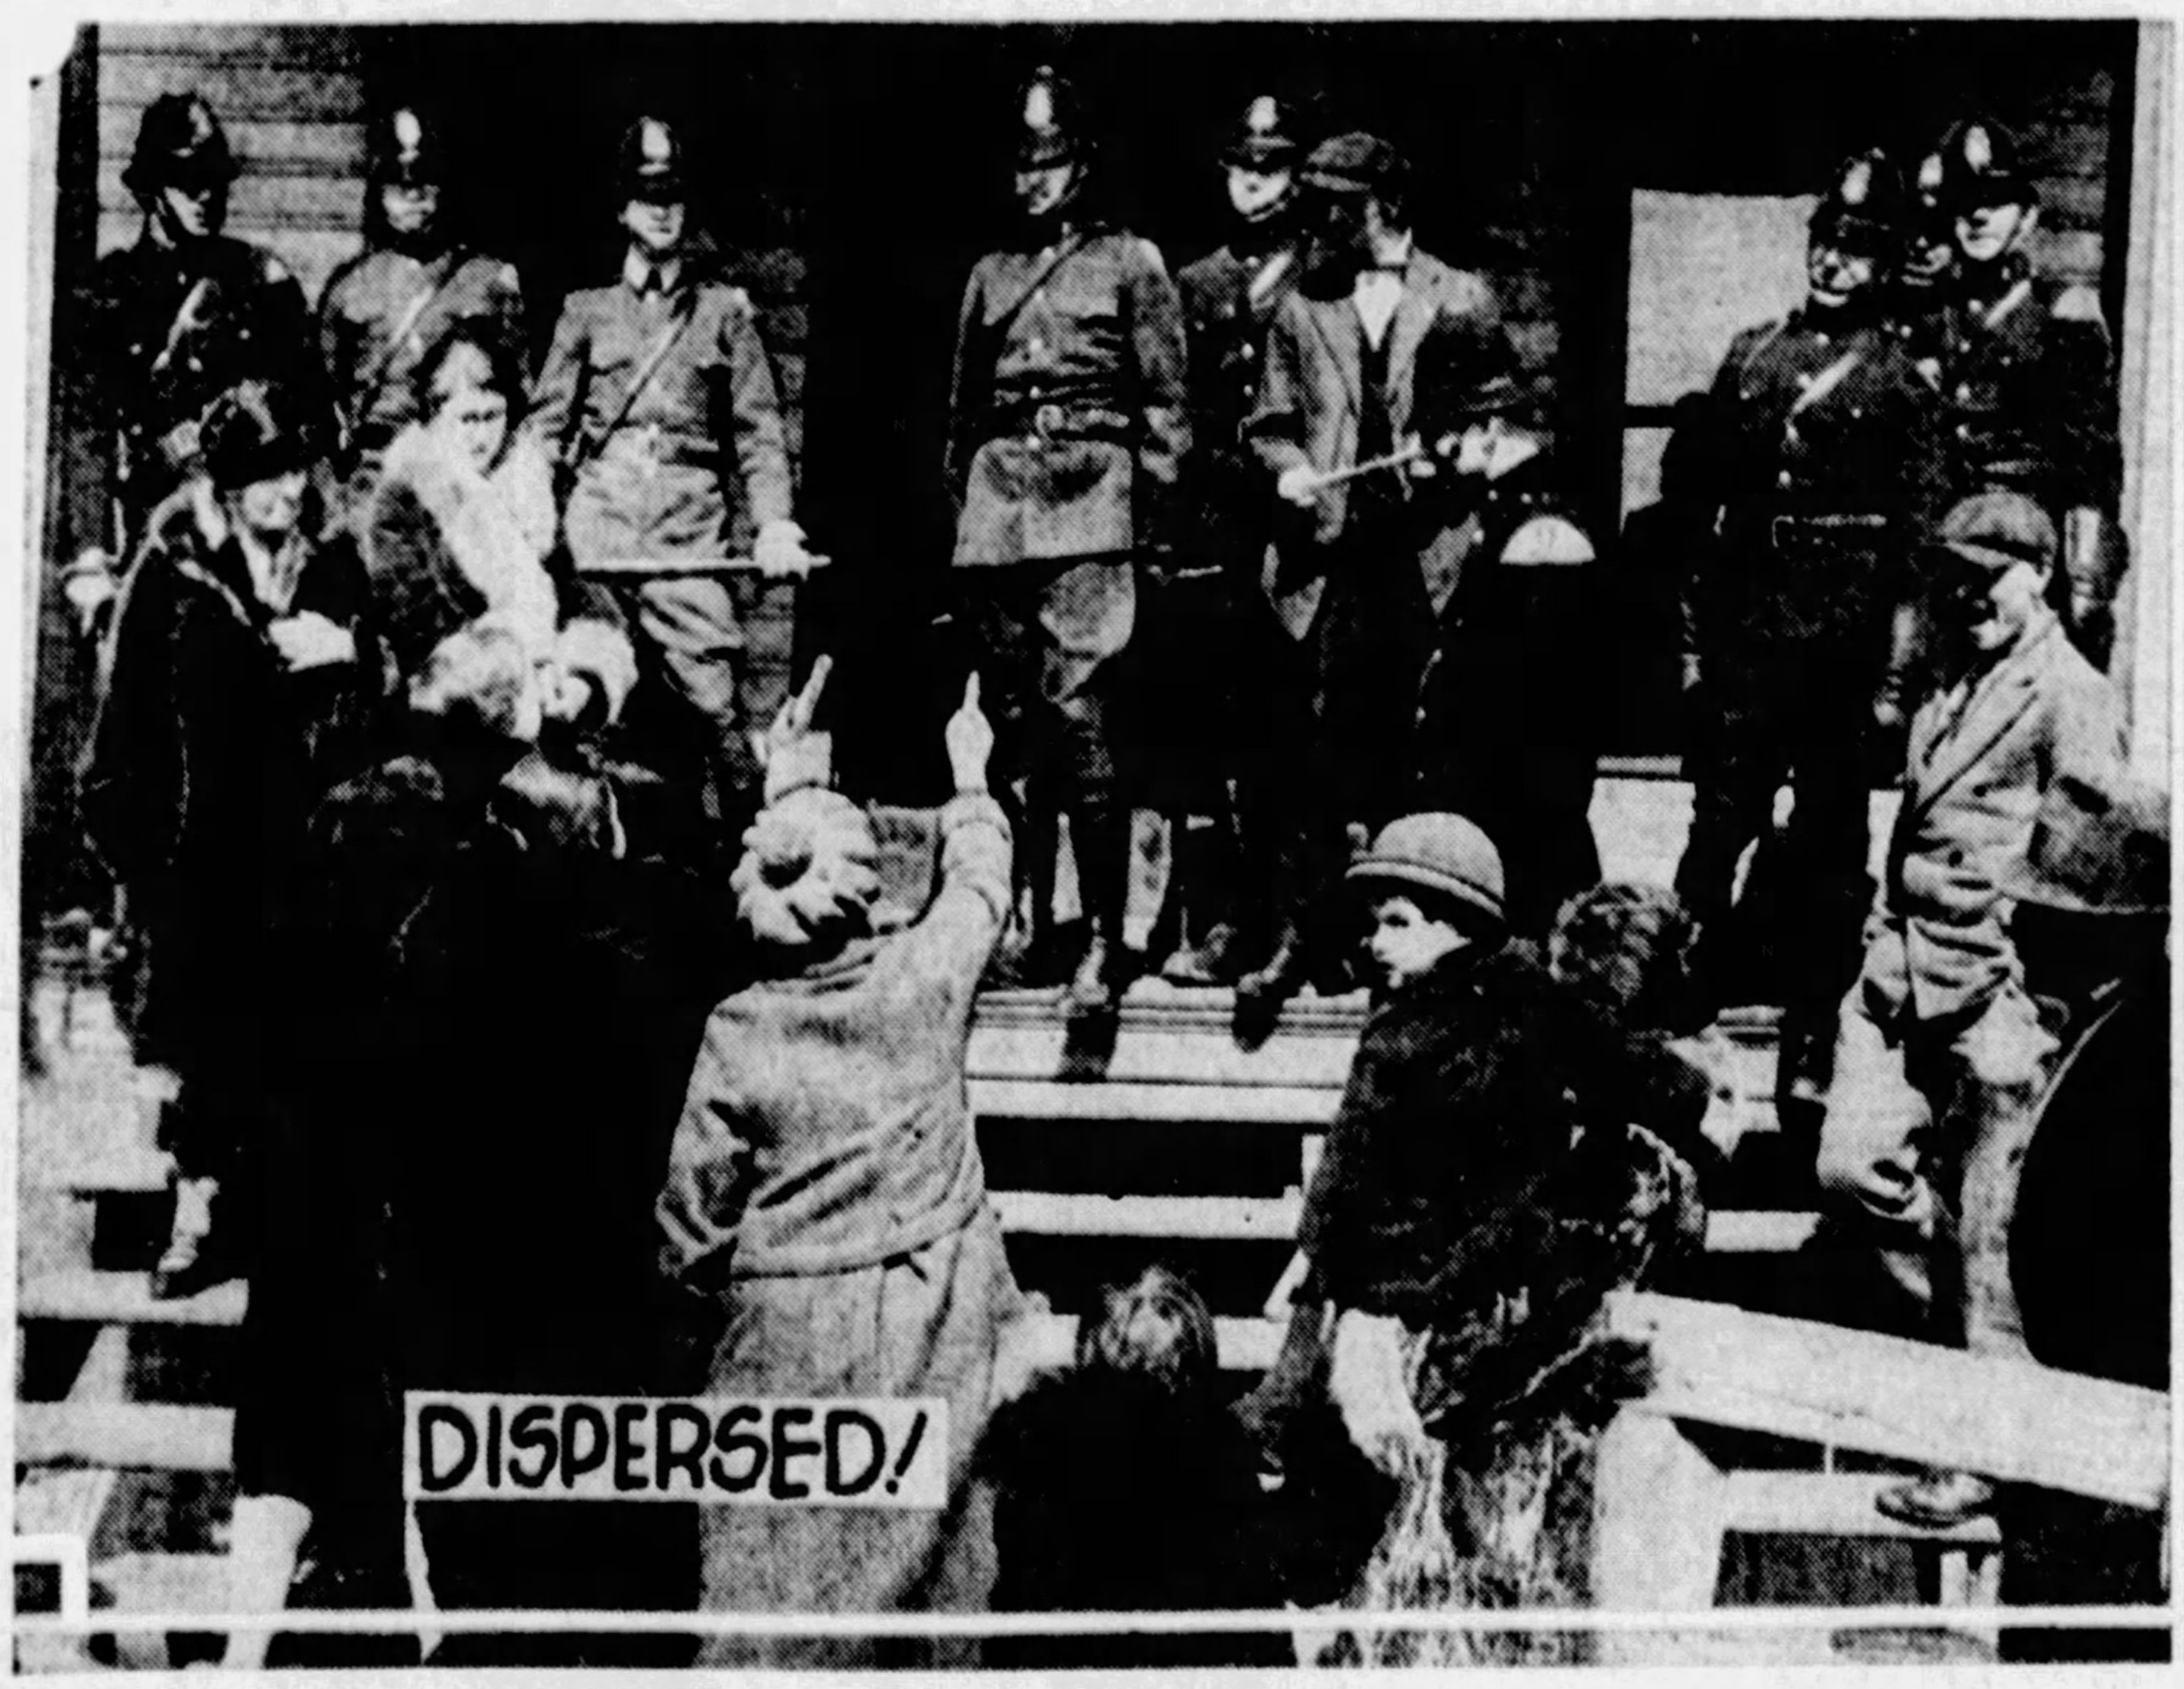
WOMEN JEER -:- TROOPERS STOPPING -:- MINE MEETING



CROWDS DISPERSED

State police, acting under orders from Sheriff Robert H. Braun, dispersed a meeting of "Save the Union Committee" smypathizers at Library. Then men gathered obeyed the troopers' orders and left the hall quietly, but a group of about six women turned on the officers with up-raised hands and high-pitched voices in remonstrance. No arrests were made.

"GUN" RULE BARED TO PROBERS

West Virginia in legislation looking to the relief of the distress in the coal industry.

Blame "Absentees"

"Absentee landlordism," said Bittner, was responsible for the "terrible conditions" in the coal fields of West Virginia.

Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, suggested that "absentee ownership" also made for lack of sympathy on the part of the operators for the West Virginia miners.

"If Mr. Rockefeller and Mr. Schwab lived in West Virginia," said Bittner, "instead of New York, they might have better understanding of the problems of the miners."

Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, asked what percentage of the stock of the coal companies operating in West Virginia was owned by West Virginians. Bittner said 20 per cent would be a conservative estimate.

Senator Fess asked Bittner if he could suggest any remedy for the evil of "absentee landlordism." The witness said he would like to defer the answer until later.

"Evicted by Gunmen"

Bittner next took up evictions in Northern West Virginia. One thousand families of miners there have been living in barracks for an average of practically three years, he said.

Often, he said, the families were put out of the company houses by "hired thugs and gunmen" without court orders whatever.

One such case, Bittner stated, was that of Mrs. J. H. Morton, who was ejected from her home at Brady, W. Va., in June, 1924, notwithstanding a letter her physician had written, saying it would be dangerous to throw her out.

"Samuel Brady, president of the Brady-Warner Company, accompanied the 'gunmen' who put Mrs. Morton out," said Bittner, "and when they showed him the letter he said, 'To hell with your condition.'" Mrs. Morton was evicted and soon afterward her child was born dead. She has a suit for damages pending against the company."

Question Injunctions

Bittner next took up the injunctions granted Northern West Virginia coal operators by the state courts, restraining the striking miners from activities such as picketing. With few exceptions, Bittner said, the applicants for injunctions were corporations which had broken their contract with the United Mine Workers. The Bethlehem Mines Corporation, of Charles M. Schwab, and the Consolidation Coal Company, of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., were among those that obtained injunctions, the witness stated. Senator Watson asked if the question was ever raised, when the companies asked for injunctions in the courts of equity, that "those who seek equity must give equity."

T. C. Townsend, an attorney for the United Mine Workers—and the former tax commissioner of West Virginia referred to by Bittner—said that repeatedly the union had called the courts' attention to the fact that the applicants for the injunctions had violated their contracts with the union and were trying to impose the so-called "yellow dog" contract on their strikebreakers but the courts did not heed the plea.

Lewis in Clash

Lewis' interruption came at this point.

The international president of the United Mine Workers came forward and said that a very serious situation had arisen.

Five coal companies in eastern Ohio, he said, had gone before Judge Benson W. Hough, of the United States Court at Columbus, and applied for the eviction of 400 families of striking miners from the company houses. Lewis declared the action of the operators was "inhuman" and would interrupt the Senate investigation.

William P. Belden, attorney for the operators involved, replied that the families to be evicted had had ample notice to vacate the houses. The companies were opposed to further delay, he said, because they needed the houses for the operation of their mines as much as they needed their tipples or other equipment.

Lewis denied the company the houses. He said one of the companies concerned had 21 houses empty and boarded up at the present time. Sharp words were exchanged by the miners' chieftain and the operators' attorney.

At the conclusion of this incident the committee went into executive session.

Fisher's Cabinet Backs Reply To Probers

HARRISBURG, March 22. Gov. Fisher's cabinet, meeting with him at noon today, expressed pleasure at the attitude the Governor has taken on the bituminous mine strike situation, especially regarding the United States Senate committee.

The expression was voiced by Chairman William D. B. Ainey, of the Public Service Commission, on behalf of the cabinet, after the Governor had outlined the issues as he sees them in the coal controversy. Chairman Ainey himself recently was quizzed by Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, and a committee investigating electric power.

The statements were made in executive session of the cabinet.

STABS POLICEMAN FREED BY JURY

picking him up and carrying him to a hospital.

Mr. McCall quickly recovered himself and ordered the two women taken into custody. Both were frantic from the strain of the trial and their deed, and Mrs. Monteabaro fought hysterically with court officers before she was subdued. She still tried to get to Blake as the bailiffs pinioned her.

Officers said the women had obtained the weapons from the box in which Miss Monteabaro's clothing was kept during the trial. The pistol used in today's shooting was one of those used by the state in expert testimony regarding the manner of the girl's death.

About 30 persons were in the courtroom at the time. All rushed into the open.

Louise Monteabaro, a sewing machine saleswoman, was shot to death on the night of last November 14, shortly after Blake and W. D. Farmer, another Calera policeman, had arrested her on the Montgomery Highway. They swore she killed herself after her arrest for speeding, and while they had momentarily left the car to examine a bottle which they said she had flung from the machine when they hailed her.

Blake's trial had lasted a little over two weeks and the case had gone to the jury last night. The verdict was returned shortly after court was convened today. Farmer was indicted with Blake and his trial is pending.

Blake was taken to a hospital, where physicians said the knife wound was about two inches long and two inches deep.

HISTORY OF CASE

Miss Monteabaro was driving from her home in Berlin, Ala., to Birmingham the night she was shot.

She had stopped at Calera, a town about 50 miles south of Birmingham, to visit friends. Testimony offered at the trial indicated she had whisky in her possession and during her stop in Calera she was said to have offered a drink to the proprietor of a cafe.

Blake and Farmer, who said they became suspicious, followed the girl on a motorcycle as she drove out of Calera. About five miles north of the village, they said they overtook her and fired a shot into the air to frighten her. She stopped the car and the arrest followed.

It was then the officers said that the girl drew a .32-caliber pistol and shot herself in the head. They took her to a doctor in Calera, and after a short examination she was taken to a Birmingham hospital, where she died.

Relatives and friends of Miss Monteabaro refused to believe this story of her death, and after numerous investigations and autopsies a specially convened Shelby county grand jury indicted Blake and Farmer on first-degree murder charges.

At the trial the state attempted to show by testimony of physicians and firearms experts that the wound in the girl's head was not caused by the .32-caliber pistol she carried, but by a bullet of larger bore, such as might have been fired by Blake's pistol.

ACT TO EXTRADITE FUGITIVE OIL WITNESSES

U. S. TO BRING BLACKMER AND O'NEIL BACK

WASHINGTON, March 22.—It appeared almost certain today that James P. O'Neil and H. M. Blackmer, fugitive oil scandal witnesses, will be brought back from France, as officials tentatively adopted the proposals of the Hearst newspapers by which they may be extradited.

The plan is to have the two men indicted on a charge of conspiracy to defraud in fixing the price of oil and extradite them, since every effort to bring them back as witnesses has failed.

In the meantime, Justice Frederick L. Siddons, in the District of Columbia, yesterday held the Walsh act, under which $100,000 in Liberty bonds belonging to Blackmer were seized when he refused to obey a subpoena to return to the United States, to be constitutional.

JUDGE'S DECISION

In his decision, Justice Siddons declared:

"It appears clear that the allegiance of a citizen of the United States though actually living in a foreign jurisdiction includes the duty of obedience to the laws of the sovereignty to which the allegiance is due."

This move, however, will have little to do with bringing Blackmer back to the United States, officials believe, or he would have returned earlier. So they are making a careful study of the organization and operation of the Continental Trading Company under which they believe the two may be indicted for conspiracy to defraud, which is extraditable under our treaty with France and most other countries.

It is alleged that Blackmer and O'Neil conspired to advance the price of oil 25 cents per barrel to create a fund of $3,080,000 in a deal with the late A. E. Humphreys of Denver.

MATE TORE CLOTHING, WOMAN ASKS DIVORCE

Her husband threatened that he would cut her throat while she slept, tore her clothes from her back and pawned her jewelry, Mrs. Charlotte Ruth Mills of 6032 Station street testified in her divorce action against Leo J. Mills. The husband, who is charged with cruel and barbarous treatment, also is accused of drenching his wife with a pail of water. Mrs. Mills is represented by Attorney T. A. Minikus.

Forster, 20, of Jucunda street was driving the car, police say.

PINCHOT HERE, LAUDS STATE BUDGET

When Gifford Pinchot assumed the governorship of Pennsylvania in 1923, he discovered numerous instances where men employed by the state to work in Harrisburg never appeared in that city except to draw their pay, he said in an address last night at the eighth annual banquet of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants, held at the University Club.

It was to eliminate such graft, the former governor said, that he organized a citizens' committee and with their assistance devised numerous methods of keeping a closer watch over state money. One of the outstanding features of the new plans was budgetary control.

Mr. Pinchot expressed himself as pleased with the results of the budget in Pennsylvania and in other states, but asked the accountants to take the lead in a movement to have uniform budget methods in all the states. He said that any financial comparisons between states is greatly complicated, and at times prohibited, by differences of budget systems used.

Approximately 200 members of the organization attended the banquet. The Rev. Dr. Carl Wallace Petty, pastor of the First Baptist Church, preceded Pinchot in the speaking program.

Mill Made Him Nervous; Asks Injunction

Seeking to enjoin the American Spiral Spring Company from operating certain machinery in their plant in Butler street because it has subjected him to a nervous strain and damaged his property which adjoins the mill, Patrick Quinn of 5621 Butler street filed an appeal in Supreme Court yesterday. The appeal is from Common Pleas Court where Quinn had filed a bill of equity. A huge hammer shook pictures from the wall and caused the floors of the house to vibrate, it was argued.

SUSPEND TWO OFFICERS

For failing to capture two robbers who held up the Tunnelview Hotel, West Liberty avenue, last week, Patrolmen Alex M. Hogel and David M. Clements of the South Side Police Station were suspended for 90 days each yesterday by the police trial board. The two are charged with cowardice. It was testified the two were in the saloon at the time of the robbery and that the bandits beat Edward T. Miller, the owner, and then escaped, although the two police gave chase.

Arguing with a superior officer who had reprimanded him in the Penn Avenue Police Station last week, Patrolman Lawrence R. Duffy was recommended for dismissal when arraigned before the trial board.

SUPREME COURT HEARS $13,000 APPEAL CASE

An appeal of the West Penn Power Company from the Common Pleas Court verdict of $13,000 awarded Mrs. Eliza Kosson for the death of a son and the injury of another, was heard yesterday by the Supreme Court. The boys fell down a hillside against transformers owned by the defendant company and one child was killed and the other injured. The defendant company had been refused a new trial after a jury in Common Pleas Court returned the $13,000 verdict in favor of the woman and the injured son.

NAB 27 PICKETS; STOP "SAVE-UNION" MEETING

ALL REFUSE TO TAKE LIBERTY ON BAIL

Twenty-seven union pickets, arrested on charges of unlawful assembly at the Maud mine of the McClaine Mining Company at Traveskyn, this morning, are in the Allegheny county jail. The striking miners refused to put up $500 bond each, declaring they were within their rights to picket a non-union mine, and P. T. Fagan, president of District No. 5, United Mine Workers of America, says he will continue to use men on sentry duty until they are all in jail and then he will put women on the picket line.

The pickets were in charge of John Fagan, district organizer for the United Mine Workers, a brother of President Fagan. Notice was served on the pickets last night by Chief Deputy Sheriff A. D. Etsall at the Maud mine that if more than eight men were on the picket line this morning they would be arrested on charges of violating the Sheriff's proclamation, which prohibits congregating in strike zones.

The pickets were arraigned before Justice of the Peace A. W. McMillen, of Carnegie, who fixed bond in the each case at $500 and then hurriedly left town. A clerk at Squire McMillen's office refused information as to the charges against the men, but the commitments at the Allegheny county jail showed that Squire McMillen had held each man on a charge of unlawful assembly.

"Our men are standing on their rights for peaceful picketing," declared President Fagan this morning, "and as long as they are orderly, the deputy sheriffs have no right to arrest them. We will not put up bond for their release, nor will we desist from picketing with as many men as we see fit."

MEETING STOPPED

A "save the union" meeting of striking coal miners at Library was broken up yesterday by 18 state police. Anthony Minerich, chairman of the Pennsylvania-Ohio Relief Committee, had been scheduled to address the gathering, but made no effort to speak after being warned by Sergt. Jones, of the state police squad.

Minerich charged that the United Mine Workers of America had ordered the troopers sent to break up the meeting, but this was denied by P. T. Fagan, president of District No. 5, of the Mine Workers. The "Save the Union" group, under whose auspices the meeting was to be held, are opposed to the policies of John L. Lewis, president of the mine workers.

SHELVE ATTACK ON MELLON

some settlements, saying: "This is a Mellon company'."

Senator Reed (R), of Pennsylvania, and Moses (R), of New Hampshire, defended Mellon. Moses demanded that Couzens initiate impeachment proceedings against the secretary of the treasury instead of "trying" him in the Senate.

The Senate debated the resolution for two hours pro and con without reaching a vote. At 2 o'clock, the resolution was placed on the calendar, where it will require a majority vote of the Senate to force its consideration in the future.

WILL IGNORE ATTACK

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(AP.)—It was made clear today at the Treasury that regardless of the result of the vote in the Senate on the resolution aimed to obtain his retirement from the cabinet, that Secretary Mellon would not resign.

It was evident in treasury circles that Mr. Mellon would ignore the attack upon him in Congress unless President Coolidge should demand his withdrawal from office, and no such action was considered probable. The resolution for the secretary's retirement, offered by Senator Couzens (R.) Michigan, arose partly from the Teapot Dome inquiry, and Mr. Mellon's failure to disclose that Will H. Hays, former Republican national chairman, had offered him Sinclair Liberty bonds in exchange for a campaign contribution.

"THAT LETTER" AGAIN

By MAX HENRICI,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The famous "The Senators Are Coming" letter of the Pittsburgh Coal Company to its mine superintendents was discussed on the floor of the Senate today by Senators David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, and Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, in the course of a debate over the resolution of Senator James Couzens, of Michigan, calling for the resignation of Andrew W. Mellon as secretary of the treasury.

Senator Reed charged that counsel and officials of the Pittsburgh Coal Company had not been allowed to see the letter, which was laid before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee in its investigation of the coal strike, by Harry T. Brundidge, reporter for the St. Louis Star.

Senator Wheeler said that was not so. He stated that Brundidge, through mistake, had carried the letter away with him when he left Washington, but had promised in a telephone conversation with Wheeler today to return it at once.

Wheeler said he had been informed by Brundidge that he had received the letter from a sergeant of the Pittsburgh Coal Company's coal and iron police at Moon Run. Brundidge did not disclose the name of the person from whom he obtained the letter to the Senate committee when he testified, merely stating that he had bought it for $25 from an employe of the company, and that it had been delivered to him just outside of the company's office at Moon Run while the Senate submittee was interviewing the mine superintendent.

COAL CO. MUST PAY $1,125,000

The Harmon Creek Coal Company must pay to the Colonial Trust Company, as trustee, $1,125,600 principal and $694,855 interest by tomorrow, under penalty of having its properties sold at public auction, according to a court order handed down yesterday in Common Pleas Court. The coal company also is required to pay additional interest of $187.50 a day from January 1, 1928. The court has further set the day of sale, should the company be unable to pay, as April 30.

The order is the result of a hearing on a bill of equity filed some time ago by the trust company as trustee, asking permission to foreclose on the property of the coal company, which had defaulted in the payment of three mortgages. The properties of the company are coal lands and mines in Washington county, Pennsylvania and Harrison county, Ohio. Sterrett and Acheson represented the trustees in the equity proceedings.

BANDIT ROBS STORE; HOLDUP MANAGER

Held up by an armed robber who entered the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company store at 4110 Main street last evening, Michael Patchen, the manager, was compelled to stand by while the gunman took $15 from the cash register. The holdup man ran from the store and escaped in an automobile in which an accomplice had been waiting.

FRATERNAL GROUPS BOOST PENSION BILL

Several fraternal organizations have added their indorsement to the Dale-Lehlbach bill, now pending in Congress. The bill provides for optional retirement of civil service employes after 30 years' service on maximum annuities of $1,200 per year, with salary reductions of 3½ per cent to maintain the disability and annuity fund.

The organizations are: Fort Pitt Lodge, No. 1, Fraternal Order of Police; International Lithographers Union Local No. 24; Kimoka Council No. 299, Degree of Pocahontas, and Mt. Moriah Lodge No. 36, Free and Accepted Masons.

Fired...
because he was always tired

IN EVERY walk of life you'll meet the "Drowsy Bills" . . . men and women who are losing out because they are forever tired. Young people they often are, in age—but old in energy. They try hard enough—but they are serving constipation too. The dread disease that can rob the strongest body of strength. That kills initiative. Wrecks health. That often handicaps with lasting disease.

And isn't it a pity when a simple, healthful cereal could bring relief all the while? Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation promptly and safely. More—to prevent it from the start.

Nothing less than "ALL-BRAN" is 100% effective

Bulk or roughage relieves constipation naturally. ALL-BRAN furnishes healthful bulk in generous quantity because it is 100% bran. This bulk absorbs moisture and distributes it through the digestive system. Gently distending the intestines—exercising them—sweeping out wastes and poisons. In a part-bran product the quantity of bulk is seldom sufficient to completely perform this work. That is why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN. Because it is 100% bran and accomplishes complete 100% results.

Different from unnatural pills

ALL-BRAN works as nature works. How much better than habit-forming drugs and laxatives whose dose must be constantly increased to remain effective—and which sometimes injure the system.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is an inviting, healthful cereal to eat with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added. Sprinkle it into soups too. Use it in cooking—recipes on package. Mix it with other cereals. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal.

For health's sake, be sure you get genuine Kellogg's—the original ALL-BRAN. Don't take chances with part-bran substitutes. At best, they can be but partially effective. ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, cafeterias. On diners. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Guaranteed! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

All Druggists Make This Offer

Money Back If One Bottle of Dare's Mentha Pepsin Doesn't Do You More Good Than Anything You Ever Used

At last the way has been found to combine Pepsin with other corrective stomach agents so that it will do the most good in the shortest possible time.

Why bother with slow actors when one tablespoonful of this splendid and pleasant liquid remedy will cause gas, bloating, heaviness, heartburn or any upset condition of the stomach to speedily vanish?

And why should any man or woman suffer another hour with indigestion or any stomach misery when the remedy that acts almost instantly can be easily procured?

Dare's Mentha Pepsin not only quickly relieves stomach distress, but it also conquers stubborn indigestion and dyspepsia, and puts an end to dizziness, nervousness, headache, sleeplessness and despondency, which distressing troubles are nearly always caused by chronic stomach disturbance.

Dare's Mentha Pepsin is pleasant to take, has a delightfully refreshing taste and after it has put your stomach in a clean and healthy condition, just notice how much better you look and feel, for besides correcting chronic stomach disorders this supremely good remedy that druggists everywhere guarantee, is a fine tonic that builds up and makes you work with vim, eat with relish and sleep soundly.

CASUALTY LIST IN OAXACA LARGE

MEXICO CITY, March 22.—(AP.)—A strong earthquake, perceptible for seven minutes in Mexico City, struck Mexico at 10:20 o'clock last night.

Five persons were injured in the capital by stones which crumbled from houses, and numerous casualties were reported in special dispatches from Oaxaca.

Startled by the temblors, audiences in the theaters became panic-stricken and rushed wildly to the streets, many women fainting.

Although the seismograph at the Tacubaya Observatory were first reported thrown out of order by the shocks, the observatory today issued a bulletin stating that the earthquake lasted 27 minutes 43 seconds, during which the temblor was perceptible for seven minutes.

The bulletin placed the center of the quake about 200 miles southwest of Mexico City.

Special dispatches from Oaxaca said that several houses were destroyed, with numerous casualties, the number of which is not known.

PEDESTRIAN THWARTS GUN STORE ROBBERY

An attempt was made early today to loot the show windows of Harry's Diamond Shoppe, a jewelry store at 317 Diamond street, by a thief who shattered a window with a milk bottle. The thief had broken the window and was preparing to remove articles of jewelry when he was frightened away by a pedestrian, according to a report made to police.

7 ESCAPE WALL COLLAPSE IN ROCHESTER

ROCHESTER, Pa., March 22.—Five men and two women narrowly escaped being crushed when a concrete wall of a two-story building in Pinney street collapsed. Two small house cars owned by tourists, en route from Florida to St. Paul, Minn., parked beside the building, were crushed.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McClelland, the former's brother, W. L. McClelland, and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McClelland, all of St. Paul, visiting relatives had just left the house cars when the wall fell.

Calvin Ballard and Henry Drumm, Rochester, working on the building, were caught in the debris and injured slightly.

RECIPE TO CLEAR A PIMPLY SKIN

Pimples Are Impurities Seeking An Outlet Through Skin Pores.

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate; then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities, which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will help prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent drink which usually helps make pimples disappear.

HAD BLACK SPOTS BEFORE HIS EYES

Local Man Claims Ten Herbs Ended Liver, Stomach and Bowel Disorders.

"My liver was sluggish, and I had no pep," was the statement of Mr. Russell Patterson, 2029 DeRand Street, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating the great natural medicine, Ten Herbs. "I would get dizzy at times and see black specks in front of my eyes," continued Mr. Patterson, who is an electrician.

MR. RUSSELL PATTERSON

"I was troubled with constipation and had to take purgatives. My kidneys seemed to be out of order, as my feet would swell, and I had pains in my back. My stomach was weak. Food did not digest as it should, but formed gas. I felt so tired that I wanted to lie down all the time, and never felt like rising in the morning. I had headaches every day, and my nerves were unstrung.

"A neighbor advised me to try Ten Herbs. The second bottle made a wonderful improvement in my condition. I enjoy my meals now without having gas on my stomach. The pains have left my back, and I have no more headaches or dizzy spells. I sleep soundly, and my bowels are regular without the use of purgatives. My feet do not swell, and my nerves never trouble me. I recommend Ten Herbs to the public as a wonderful medicine."

Wherever Ten Herbs has been introduced, it has met with tremendous success. Thousands in this city are using and recommending this new herbal compound for disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. It also benefits the kidneys, and gives the whole system a thorough cleansing. Ten Herbs is a modern medicine for many ills caused by the hustle and bustle of the times. It has helped others and why not you?

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

TROOPS ASKED TO QUELL DILLONVALE MINE RIOTS

STRIKERS OUT OF CONTROL, WIRE SAYS

STEUBENVILLE, O., March 22.—Sheriff W. T. Allison today was awaiting a reply to his plea for troops to quell the disturbances in Dillonvale and vicinity, which he sent last night to Gov. A. V. Donahey.

For three weeks the situation at Dillonvale has been becoming more acute and culminated last night when a crowd of 80 striking coal miners and their sympathizers refused to disperse after the sheriff had addressed them. Two United States marshals were attacked by members of the crowd and beaten.

Nightly the 175 men who leave the Wheeling and Lake Erie mine at Dillonvale are attacked. These attacks have been growing in violence and when the sheriff was hooted last night and his force ignored he informed the crowd that he would summon the National Guard.

SAYS SOLDIERS NOT NEEDED

COLUMBUS, O., March 22.—(AP.)—Col. Don L. Caldwell, Gov. Donahey's observer in the eastern mine fields, told Adjt. Gen. Frank D. Henderson that he did not believe state troops were required yet to cope with the situation in Jefferson county.

Col. Caldwell gave the Adjutant General his opinion in a telephone message this morning, after a telegram had been received from Sheriff William Allison, of Jefferson county, asking for state troops to aid in enforcing the Federal Court injunction designed to prevnt disturbances at the mines. The Adjutant General said that troops would not be sent until Col. Caldwell recommended it.

In a telegram to the Adjutant General received almost simultaneously with that of Sheriff Allison's, Col. Caldwell supported the sheriff's description of the situation at Dillonvale, and said that the sheriff did not have sufficient men to carry out the court injunction order.

WIFE CHANGES HANDS TWICE

Twice a wife in Chicago changed hands and the second time she remarried her husband after her marriage to the attorney who had secured the divorce had been annulled. Dr. Clarence H. Courtney divorced his wife (both shown above), alleging cruelty, and Attorney Walter W. Hamilton obligingly rushed the proceedings. The day the decree was granted, he married her. Then the doctor wanted her back and the court annulled the marriage and Dr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Courtney again became as one.

MARY PICKFORD LOSES MOTHER

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—(AP.)—Mrs. Charlotte Pickford, mother of Mary Pickford, screen star, died shortly after midnight today. She had been suffering from a lingering illness.

Mrs. Pickford, whose name formerly was Charlotte Smith, was the mother of three motion picture stars—Mary, Lottie and Jack Pickford. The latter also became widely known in vaudeville. A sister and two nieces also survive.

Miss Pickford was at the bedside of her mother at the latter's Beverly Hills home when she died. A cancerous growth was reported to have been the cause of her death. She was 55 years old.

O'MALLEY CLUB PADLOCKED BY U. S. COURT

Six places were ordered padlocked for one year by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson today for ignoring the prohibition law. The court made clear that in some instances the owners of the padlocked properties might arrange for reopening.

The places were Traffic Club, 113 Seventh street, operated by R. J. McBride and Tom O'Malley, Strip politician; Harry Green, 141 Fullerton street; J. Chauvin, 1507 Fifth avenue; R. Stokes, 711 Townsend street; Giovanni DiLeo, 39 Logan street; Eugene Denezza, 453 Third avenue, Carnegie.

Hot-Dog Stands Hurt School Cafeteria

FRANKLIN, Pa., March 22.—The school board refused the request of Mrs. Adams, proprietor of the high school cafeteria, for a raise because, the directors agreed, hot-dog stands near the school had reduced the cafeteria's receipts. This condition seems to indicate that Franklin students are ardent admirers and consumers of the frankfurter—get 'em while they're hot!

JUNK DEALERS HELD IN THEFT

Three men, two of them junk dealers, were held for court charged with receiving stolen goods; two boys were held on charges of larceny, and six other boys were fined $15 each and costs by Alderman George A. Young yesterday in connection with thefts of brass, valued at $500, from the Verner yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The men are Nathan Mait, of 1715 Cliff street; Lipa Haimovitz, of 10 Roberts street, junk dealers, and Clarence Reese, a Negro, of 2 Porter street. They are alleged to have bought brass from Andrew Ferencik, 18, no home, and Mike Kimak, 19, of 21 Bison street, alleged leaders in a gang of boys that stole the metal.

NEGRESS CONVICTED FOR KILLING WOMAN

Mrs. Beatrice Wright, 25, Negress, of Lany way, North Side, was convicted of murder in the second degree in a verdict found in Criminal Court last night before Judge James H. Gray. The jury deliberated about four hours. She was accused of shooting Mrs. Lucille Woton, 30, Negress, of [illegible]arlo street, in the Wright ho[illegible] November 18 last. The women had quarreled, it was testified. The defendant claimed she shot in self-defense. Sentence was deferred pending a decision as to a motion for a new trial.

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.?

S.S.S. is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

Rheumatics are Wild with Joy

Nurito Prescription Acts Like Magic, Making Bed-ridden Sufferers Get Up and Dance.

DRUGGISTS GUARANTEE IT

Nothing has so startled the community as the effect of Nurito, a physician's prescription for rheumatism, neuritis, neuralgia, sciatica and lumbago. It is now to be had at the local drug stores and is certainly a boon to humanity. Many won't believe such a thing possible as almost instant relief in even bed-ridden cases of excruciating pain. They say it must be a narcotic. But it isn't anything of the sort, and to prove it, get the regular package from the drug store. Try it as directed and if it doesn't prove almost a miracle in driving away pain with two or three doses the druggist will refund the price you paid him for it. Ask at the drug store for a box of Nurito on this guarantee. At all Druggists and McCulloch Drug Stores.

Don't Let Them Call You Pimply Face!

You fellows who go around with your face blotched with pimples and bad looking eruptions have no one but yourself to blame if you're constantly humiliated and shunned.

You can clear up your skin and leave it free from roughness and unsightly eruptions in short order if you will only give that wonderful skin remedy—Peterson's Ointment—a chance to do its stuff.

Oftentimes you only need to use a few applications before pimples completely go and if you're suffering from eczema, acne or rashes this condition will go almost as quick.

One sufferer from eczema, a victim for years, says he is almost completely cured after using only one-half a box.

Get a box for only 35 cents from any good druggist—and start today to acquire a clean, clear, healthy skin that you'll always be proud of.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

"Pirates of Penzance" Sung As Gilbert and Sullivan Would Have Joyed to Hear It

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

GEORGE SEIBEL

THE third of the Gilbert and Sullivan operas that are being given here this week—the rollicking "Pirates of Penzance"—was presented at the Alvin Theater last night in the same happy fashion as the others. Full of Gilbert's whimsical fancies, this extravaganza with its ludicrous Major-General, its tender-hearted policemen, its milk-fed buccaneers, cannot fail to gratify lovers of humor and melody. The audience last night, though not what it should have been in numbers, was so enthusiastic that the curtain had to be raised a dozen times at the close of the performance.

No more enjoyable performance could be asked for—with another of Woodman Thompson's series of stage settings and costumes as a background. Both the pirates' lair and the ruined chapel were in tune with the romantic atmosphere of the libretto and the lyric charm of the score. As in "Iolanthe," this Pittsburgh boy had an opportunity to exhibit his sense of color—just as another Pittsburgh boy, William Williams, had an opportunity to do his best work of the week as Frederick, the pirate apprentice.

Fred Wright as the Major General was deliciously amusing, and Lois Bennett as Mabel revealed the fact that she has a voice of very excellent texture. William C. Gordon as the Sergeant of Police again won laurels by his vocal work and rich comedy. The male choruses in this opera are especially catchy—the pirate refrain everybody sings to the words of "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here" is almost one of our national airs—and the male chorus of this company did complete justice to Sullivan's music.

For almost half a century this opera has been a favorite with the public, and it has lost none of its fragrance and charm. It has an interesting stage history, too, for Richard Mansfield was the first to sing the role of Major-General Stanley. That it should have such a beautiful production, and meet such discriminating appreciation, is a hopeful sign that our stage is not decadent and that audiences still have good taste—when they come to show it.

Tonight "Iolanthe" will be repeated.

KATZ AND ORCHESTRA TO BE HERE TWO WEEKS

Al Katz and his Kittens, a recording orchestra, appearing in the Venice Restaurant and Flotilla Club, will open the second week of their engagement Monday. The orchestra appears at the luncheon and dinner period in the Venice and at the supper hour in the Flotilla Club. Etzi Covato's orchestra also is appearing in both places. Al Katz and his Kittens will offer a complete change in their program the last three days of this week.

MME. SCHUMANN-HEINK TO SING HERE MONDAY

Mme. Schumann-Heink, who will sing in Syria Mosque next Monday evening, March 26, will have as her guests at this concert 19 people who heard her sing here from 15 to 25 years ago. Mme. Schumann-Heink wishes to have them seated in the first row where she will greet them on her entrance. Mme. Schumann-Heink has recovered from her recent indisposition and has resumed her tour.

Talmadge Picture Has Chaplin As Extra

Henry King, directing Norma Talmadge in "A Woman Disputed," wanted an extra who was small and had an overcoat. His eyes roamed over a group of atmosphere players, but none suited his purpose.

Charlie Chaplin, who was a visitor on the set, stepped forward.

"I'll play the 'extra' if you'll pay me five dollars," he said.

King sensed that it would be a great joke on Miss Talmadge, and he agreed.

After the scene was "shot," Chaplin demanded his money and got it.

Unless Chaplin's "bit" suffered the same fate that most small parts do, he will be seen in the opening scene of "The Woman Disputed" as an "extra."

HARDEEN ACCEPTS DEFI TO ESCAPE FROM BOX

Hardeen, brother of the late Houdini, has been challenged to escape from a packing case on the stage of the Harris tonight. He has accepted the challenge, and will make an effort to duplicate the feat done by his famous brother. The challenge Hardeen accepted was from May, Stern & Co., whose men will take lumber and tools to the Harris Theater and build a packing case on the stage in full view of the audience and then nail and rope the box, from which Hardeen agrees to escape.

Wolheim Happy—He's a Hero At Last

At last Louis Wolheim, super-hardboiled actor of the screen and stage realizes his ambition to play a sympathetic character.

For years the pugnacious looking thespian has tried to presuade producers to cast him in something besides "tough roles." As Wolheim, who in real life is cultured, a student of the classics and a home-loving man, expressed it: "Whenever they found a part that required a sneering, leering, brutal, contemptible, blasphemous character, they thought of me, and I got tired of being a villain."

Now Wolheim is happy, for he is acting the most important role of his screen career and he's a hero instead of a "menace."

The picture is "Tempest," starring John Barrymore, and next to Barrymore Wolheim has perhaps the biggest part. As "Bulba," the loyal soldier buddy of Barrymore in the story of modern Russia, Wolheim is instrumental in rescuing his friend from the clutches of the revolutionaries and guiding him and his princess sweetheart to safety.

OLD-TIME DANCE LISTED FOR TONIGHT

Johnny Jones' dance to be held in the Odd Fellows Gardens, South Side, tonight is to be known as an "Old-fashioned Dress Parade of 1900." Joseph Kane and his orchestra will furnish the music.

No one is safe!

Bootblack, nurse, artist or society debutante—every one of us, no matter who we are, may offend unknowingly

BODY ODOR...why we can't tell when we offend

BODY odor always betrays—but seldom warns its victim.

You know yourself that though you notice instantly the faintest hint of odor in others—the guilty ones usually remain unaware of giving offense.

Why? Simply because once an odor becomes familiar to us, our own sense of smell becomes deadened to it. Very often, this misleads even fastidious people into thinking they are safe—while actually they do offend.

Isn't it just as possible, then, that at times we, too, may offend others—without knowing it!

Body odor plays no favorites

No one is safe from body odor. To live, we must perspire. And in cooler weather—with activities indoors, in warm, stuffy rooms—body odor is more prevalent than ever.

On coolest days, our millions of pores continually give off invisible perspiration—often as much as a quart of waste every 24 hours.

This body moisture, whether visible or invisible, is always odorous. And no one escapes it. All of us—no matter what our position or occupation in life—may offend unless we take precautions.

No need to risk embarrassment

Yet there is a simple way to be sure we're safe from body odor. Just wash and bathe often with the delightful toilet soap that millions enjoy—Lifebuoy—it deodorizes.

The same mild and abundant antiseptic lather that helps protect health by removing germs—prevents body odor by purifying pores.

For complexions, too, this gentle Lifebuoy lather is marvelously beneficial. It keeps skins clear and satin-smooth.

Body odor more noticeable at this time of the year—due to stuffy rooms—closed windows.

Pores give off as much as a quart of waste a day—even in coolest weather.

Now, a purifying toilet soap. Its bland antiseptic lather keeps you safe from body odor.

In millions of homes, Lifebuoy is used for every toilet purpose.

You'll like its clean scent

You will learn to love Lifebuoy's pleasant clean scent, which tells you Lifebuoy purifies, yet which quickly evaporates after rinsing.

Use Lifebuoy a week and you'll use it for life. Get some today.

FRIENDS OBJECT TO DR. SHELTON LEAVING

The suggestion that Rev. Dr. George W. Shelton, pastor of Second Presbyterian Church, Eighth street, might leave Pittsburgh for another field has drawn together downtown pastors, business and professional friends, mainly outside his own church, to utter a protest against such action on his part. At a luncheon today at the Union Club, plans were laid for a testimonial meeting for Dr. Shelton.

W. W. Lower, an Episcopalian, is chairman of the committee and S. K. Cunningham, a leading United Presbyterian, is secretary. Some of the other members of the committee are George H. Weaver, Dr. George A. Dillinger, Dr. Charles L. Kemery, W. S. Brotzman, L. A. MacDonald, Philip Kussart, Charles D. McShane, John Mamaux and Dr. Martin N. Greer. Several of these business and professional men are not members of Dr. Shelton's church, but they are his warm personal friends and assert that his removal from Pittsburgh would be a loss to the city.

Several ministers of prominent churches also are on the committee. Denominations represented are Baptist, Methodist, Christian, Presbyterian, United Presbyterian, Lutheran, Catholic and Hebrew.

Bootleg Rum to England Draws Customs Fine

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Now if Guthrie McClintic had brought three bottles of whisky from England to America, that would have been an occasion for congratulation. But he took three bottles from New York to Southampton. And that's an occasion for explanation.

The theatrical director explained yesterday on his return on the Paris that farewelling friends who saw him off on the Aquitania several weeks ago overlooked the possibility of obtaining a sip in London, so they magnanimously slipped six quarts of American bootleg into his cabin.

Three remained when he reached England, and his failure to declare them cost him a customs fine.

THOMAS A. WISE

THOMAS A. WISE, ACTOR, DIES

NEW YORK, March 22.—(AP.)—Broadway today mourned Thomas A. Wise, shepherd of the Lambs Club and one of the great character actors of the American stage.

He died last night in a hotel, next door to the club of which he was head, from the effects of a bronchial and heart attack suffered Tuesday.

The 63-year-old actor had been in failing health for a year. A month ago he became ill while appearing in Chicago in "Behold This Dreamer," and returned to New Yorw to recuperate.

He essayed many roles, but is probably best remembered for his portrayal of Falstaff in "The Merry Wives of Windsor" and Senator William H. Langon in "The Gentleman From Mississippi," a play of which he was co-author. A young actor by the name of Douglas Fairbanks was a member of the cast of that play when it was first produced in New York in 1908.

W. ALEXANDER GIRL SUICIDE

CHICAGO, March 22.—A pretty young woman who leaped to death from the thirty-third floor of the Tribune tower here yesterday was identified today as Elizabeth Ann Blayney, 22, of West Alexander, Pa.

A call to the missing persons bureau by the girl's mother led to identification.

Mrs. Blayney said her daughter had been ill and despondent.

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 22.—The body of Elizabeth Ann Blayney, 22, who leaped to her death from the thirty-third floor of the Tribune tower in Chicago yesterday, will be brought to West Alexander for burial tomorrow. She came of a pioneer family in this county, but had never resided here. Her father, the late Dr. Frederick H. Blayney, was the first football captain of Washington and Jefferson College, in 1890. He was a major in the World War. The young woman, according to word received by relatives, had been employed in a Chicago store and had been in ill health.

SUES LAWRENCE SLEUTHS AFTER FUTILE RUM HUNT

NEW CASTLE, Pa., March 22.—When police officers searched the home of Louis Ferrante, of Wampum, for liquor they damaged furniture and clothing and terrified his 15-year-old daughter so greatly that she needed the care of a physician, Ferrante charges in a $50,000 damage suit filed against the officers. Ferrante, a storekeeper, said he never had kept liquor on the premises. The officers named are County Detectives William Fleming and John Miller, Constable W. J. Graham and State Policemen H. M. Muncy and William Brush.

AGED WASHINGTON MAN IS RUN DOWN BY AUTO

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 22.—Convalescent from an illness which had kept him indoors nearly all winter, John Hughes, 77, was run down by an automobile in West Chestnut street yesterday on his first trip from home.

He passed between two automobiles into the path of a machine driven by Lucian Spriggs. He is unconscious in Washington Hospital.

YOUNGSTOWN PROBES CITY STREET GRAFT

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 22.—Mayor Joseph L. Heffernan today launched a new investigation into alleged city graft, directed at the City Streets Department. George Turner, city engineer, was one of the witnesses called. The Mayor indicated that discoveries had been made involving misuse of public funds.

Likes Prisoner's Face, Judge Paroles Him

ERIE, Pa., March 22.—Because he innocently became involved in the theft of an automobile after he accepted a ride to Akron, O., in search of a job, Cleo Calvert, 23, of Washington, Pa., was placed on probation in the custody of George G. O'Brien, district officer, for two years following a plea of guilty in Federal court Wednesday afternoon.

"This young man is not a criminal. I rather like his face and I don't want to make him one," Judge W. H. S. Thomson said.

The car was abandoned in Washington and Frank Topez, the man who is alleged to have stolen it, and offered the youth the ride, is still at large.

HART SCHAFFNER & MARX
FOUR-WINDS TOPCOATS

Created for more wear and style

A topcoat must take a lot of punishment if it serves you well. One day it's a drizzle—it must keep you dry. Next it's sunny—it must give you style. Then it's a motor trip—doubled up in seats when you're not wearing it. But it must come up smiling.

Four-Winds cloth has been created to meet all these needs; heavy enough for long wear; light and soft enough for comfort and easy drape.

Sometimes only quick thinking prevents delay

BECAUSE turbine troubles are far-reaching and delays are reckoned in dollars, Westinghouse Service Men think and move fast.

One Westinghouse engineer, on a Saturday, received a long distance call to repair a 500 K. W. machine.

An overnight train ride found him with a broken gland runner to replace and his stockroom 180 miles away. Wait for a shipment? No! A judicious telephone call located a spare runner in a neighboring plant, which, when installed, put the rebellious turbine back on the line Monday.

SIMPLE TRICKS GO OVER BEST

Simplicity is the secret of success in magic. The easier the trick is to perform the greater its possibilities of winning favor and the more mystifying it appears.

HARDEEN.

The layman in attempting to analyze the trick will invariably proceed by the hardest route. His untrained mind for magic will tell him that the trick must be difficult, otherwise it could not be performed. There he misses his point. Practice with the easiest way of doing a stunt makes for success.

Pulling out a coin from under a glass is so simple when explained that one would consider it hardly a worthwhile trick to present, but first have your friends try it, and then you will quickly learn that they will use means that makes it impossible to accomplish the feat.

All that is necessary in this trick is to take an ordinary glass, place it on two forks, one on either side, and place a coin on the table cloth directly in the center of the glass. Tell your audience that it is very simple to get the coin without touching it, and ask if any one is able to do so. Because of the simplicity of the trick you will see that none will hesitate to attempt it, but each one naturally will fail. Now all you have to do is use your finger nail, clawing at the cloth slowly until the coin is completely from under the glass.

Tomorrow I will explain another trick.

MYSTERY "DEAD" WOMAN LIVES

International News Service

WASHINGTON, March 22.—A spark of life still burned today in the Capital's "mystery woman," 24 hours after she was removed, apparently dead, from a Pullman berth in a New York train, taken to the district morgue and laid out on a slab.

Two physicians' had pronounced her dead before she reached the morgue. She had been found in her berth with a chloroform-soaked towel about her head, and bichloride of mercury tablets in her purse.

On the slab at the morgue, an attendant saw a twitching of the neck muscles. He summoned a hospital ambulance and the rescue squad from the fire department, and then there began one of the most strenuous battles in medical history to revive the faint flickering spark of life.

The spark was so faint that ordinary methods hardly revealed it. Artificial respiration was resorted to by the fire squad, which worked 17 hours continuously. Adrenalin and coffee were injected and last night a blood transfusion was made. She was still alive this morning, her pulse beating faintly where before there had been no pulse at all that could be detected by ordinary means.

There were few marks of identification about the woman or her effects. In a plain white envelope was a withered rose, with a scrawl "Please bury this with me." Identifying marks about the clothing and the single bag she carried had been removed.

From the few clues available, the police expressed the opinion today she might be a Mrs. Mary True, a nurse, whose home was in nearby Maryland, but who is said to have been working in a Long Island sanitarium. The woman boarded the train at New York with a ticket for Washington. She had the porter mail two letters just before midnight in Pennsylvania Station, New York.

We Buy or Bite, According to The Appeal That Is Made To Our Attitudes

In his chapter in The Sun-Telegraph yesterday Dr. Dorsey explained the origins of emotions—fear, hatred, love, etc. Love is a better tonic than fear or rage, but they all grow together, having had their beginnings at the same time—in infancy. Many a man loses his job because his emotions have not been trained.

Principle of Habits Explained

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

WHY do we like certain poems, pictures, songs, melodies, hymns? I sat through a Georgia camp meeting recently. The preacher exhorted and exhorted; no one came "forward." Then another old familiar air was set in motion; many went forward.

GEORGE A. DORSEY

Leaders—in religion, politics, and business—get "results" because they know how to play on us. We buy or bite not according to our requirements or on the strength of the merits of the "goods" they sell us (for they rarely talk merits), but according to their appeal to our attitudes.

We got to a political rally. Flags everywhere; pictures of Washington and Lincoln on the stage. That stage is set for us; the trap is baited. We do not need these settings; but they do their work; they make us favorably disposed. We cannot look at Our Flag or the Father of Our Country without being moved. Prayer follows: God, save America and bless the man who is about to save it, etc. Then the speaker talks about Lincoln and drags in other matter irrelevant to his own fitness. And we are further moved. And with an "All together!" we sing "America." That decides us: he is the man we want.

Principle of Habits

The successful politician may never have heard of "emotional tendencies built up through association processes" or of "conditioned emotional responses," but he does not try to sell himself to a Georgia rally with a eulogy on Sherman or ask all to rise and sing "John Brown's Body." Nor does the salesman try to sell refrigerators to Eskimos or the complete works of Darwin to South Carolina.

Whether we are positive or negative all depends. But we are positively adapted for anything and everything that interests us. Whether a particular thing is to our interest or not also depends. We can learn.

The principle back of breaking habits is the same as that back of forming them: substitution. Substitute another. Sometimes it is difficult: the path may be worn too deep. Then it is a habit; if useless, a bad one; if dangerous, lock him up.

A farmer breaks a colt gradually. He accustoms it to the sight of things, to the feel of things; little by little. The first thing the colt knows it is hitched up. It is broken to harness. But a colt can have its conditioned fear reflexes. And when the stimulus comes—umbrella, locomotive engine, auto, red dress, any fool thing—it scares. One way to keep it from scaring is to keep it away from fearsome things. A better way is to condition it to men. With fear of men gone, the colt begins to have confidence when there is a man about.

Conditioned Fears

The human infant has almost no specific fears. Its particular fears become conditioned and terribly real. They can be conditioned out, gradually. The old habit of being afraid of certain things or persons is replaced by other habits.

Habits, whether inherent or acquired, can usually be broken up by altering the stimulus. Horses often show their fighting instinct by kicking or biting at a passerby. But a horse which has bitten into a sleeve of cayenne pepper is not likely to bite into another sleeve. If the figure passing behind him is a dummy, and if his feet are jerked from under him as he kicks at it, he will think of his feet the next time he is impelled to kick. The dog which instinctively sucks eggs loses his appetite for eggs after he has crushed a cayenne pepper prepared egg. The instinctive chain reflex now reads: Smell egg, hang out tongue to cool; instead of: Smell egg, crack it, lap it up.

Specific fears and other forms of emotion generally run in families; they are handed down, conditioned in. Children of lion-tamers, snake-charmers, steeple-jacks, etc., grow up without conditioned fears of lions or snakes or high places. The son of a snake-charmer may go in for the ministry, but the minister's daughter is not likely to become a snake-charmer.

Love Comes Early

The child that has everything it wants is no more likely to form habits of thrift than a Hottentot or a monkey. Habits are not formed by uttering precepts. Nor is moral conduct founded on preachments. Nor a bad habit broken by warnings. But a little common sense and a few lessons in the biology of reproduction have not yet been known to encourage youth to bad habits and have been known to make for sanity, peace of mind and normal behavior.

Our erogenous zones, as Ellis calls them, function from birth: they respond to stimuli. The baby can gurgle and coo and smile when it is tickled or patted or pleased. The hug response follows the outstretched arm movement. Just where love comes in it is not easy to say. It does come—early; it does get conditioned into our emotional fears and hates, strengthening them, modifying them, coloring them.

Especially into our attitudes, even toward a sunset. Our emotions get more or less saturated with sentiment. Often the mate-hunger impulse receives more than its share of rebuffs. These lead to definite attitudes backed by emotion.

The lovesick maiden seeks sympathy and the lovelorn youth solitude. And few there are who do not know the meaning of shame, envy, hate, jealousy, shyness, embarrassment, pride, suspicion, anxiety, anguish, resentment, etc.; emotional habits conditioned on to instinctive tendencies. They upset us in dozens of ways; they make or break or prevent marriage; they are as much a part of us as our arms and legs.

Hampering Emotions

Emotional attachments are of value only when attached to serviceable or useful behavior, when called out under stress, and when directed to the big business of life. It hurts to be scared and we boil when we are enraged. But the life that always boils or is scared cold has little time for routine business of life.

The time to break such hurt and boil habits is before they are formed: before the emotions have become specific for things, places and people that are not changed by tears or smiles. Then we can talk of moral and political issues without slopping over into useless sentimentality or boiling over with worse than useless vindictive animosity.

This is not easy. It is easier to allow our emotions to move us than to restrain our emotions and inquire: Where do we want to go and why do we not move in that direction? Easier, because that is our habit.

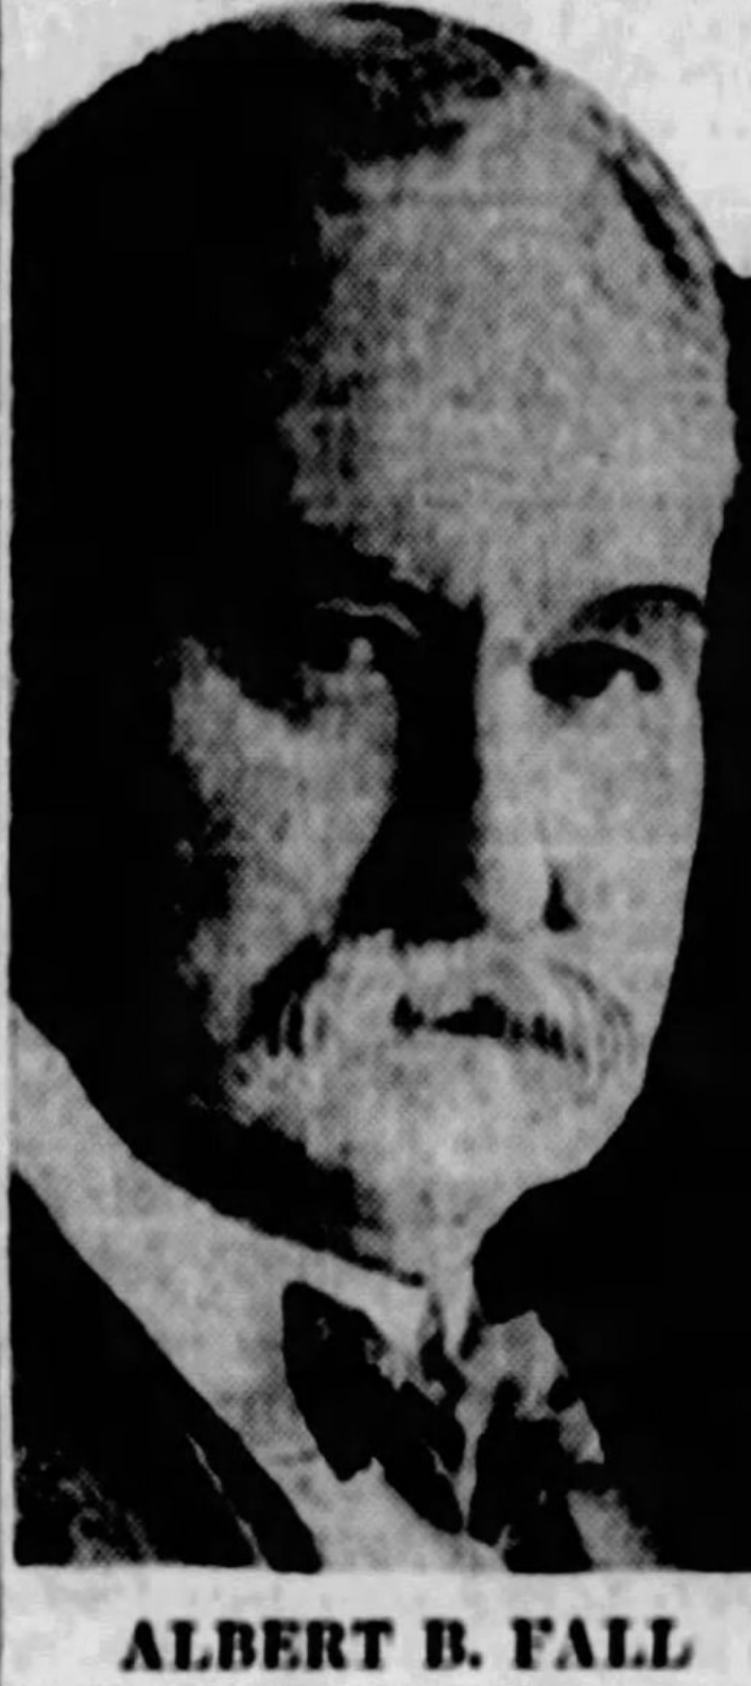
SENATORS WON'T GO TO HEAR FALL'S STORY

International News Service

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Albert B. Fall's professed willingness to tell his story about the oil scandals, on the basis of his telegram from El Paso, failed to impress members of the Senate investigating committee today, and the project of sending a sub-committee to his bedside was abandoned.

To Tell All



ALBERT B. FALL

"Mr. Fall says in his telegram that he knows nothing about the Continental Trading Company, nor the Liberty bond profits that accrued therefrom," said Senator Walsh (Dem.), of Montana, the committee prosecutor. "The purpose of the present inquiry is to find what became of those bonds. It appears, therefore, that he has nothing to tell the committee. As for the oil leases themselves, concerning which he appears willing to testify, I do not believe he could shed any new light on them. That phase is pretty well known."

Fall, central figure in the naval oil scandals, "is ready to tell all" about his connection with the oil leases, but he would rather do it in court than before a body of senatorial quizzers.

This was the gist of a telegram Fall sent to Senator Gerald P. Nye (R.) of North Dakota, late last night, in response to a telegraphic inquiry as to whether the ex-cabinet officer would testify if a sub-committee of Senators were sent to his bedside at El Paso.

He is, however, apparently willing to testify before a Senate committee if the District Supreme Court grants the continuance in his conspiracy trial which his lawyers have petitioned for. That probably will be decided this week.

MAY CHANGE PLANS

There is a possibility, however, that a change of plans may be made by the Senate probers, now expressing no eagerness for Fall's testimony, when and if the District Supreme Court grants Fall the continuance which his attorneys have asked in his trial with Harry F. Sinclair for conspiracy. This trial was set for April 2, but Fall's attorneys and physicians have advised the court he will not be able to appear.

Fall intimated in his telegram to Senator Nye that if the court granted the continuance he would be willing to have his testimony taken by the Walsh committee.

Fall is ill, desperately ill, according to his physicians. Some of them have given him six months to live.

In his telegram to Nye, Fall denied any knowledge of the Continental Trading Company, or of the political contributions of Sinclair to the Republican party. He does know, he said, "of matters affecting the lease of Teapot Dome and of the financial transactions concerning his Three Rivers ranch property, and it is about these that he is willing to talk.

CALLED "BRIBE"

The financial transactions concerning his ranch involve the $233,000 in Liberty bonds which found their way from Sinclair to Fall and which committee prosecutors have described as a "bribe."

Fall has taken the witness stand only once since it became publicly known that he received money from Sinclair and Doheny—$100,000 in cash from Doheny and $233,000 in Liberty bonds from Sinclair. This occasion was on February 2, 1924, more than four years ago, when he refused to testify "on the ground it might incriminate me."

He has been twice subjected to criminal trial. His trial with Doheny resulted in acquittal; his trial with Sinclair resulted in a mistrial because of the surveillance of the jurors by Burns detectives in the employ of Sinclair.

CONVICT LAST MEMBER OF SALVIANA GANG

ERIE, PA., March 22.—Frank Baldine, the last of the Salviana gang, which stole 24 automobiles in Pittsburgh, Farrell and Youngstown, Ohio, was convicted on two counts in violation of the motor vehicle theft act in Federal court Wednesday afternoon. Sentence was deferred by Judge W. H. S. Thompson. Baldine was arrested in San Francisco, Cal., after a four-year hunt. Eight other members of the gang have been convicted and sentenced to long prison terms.

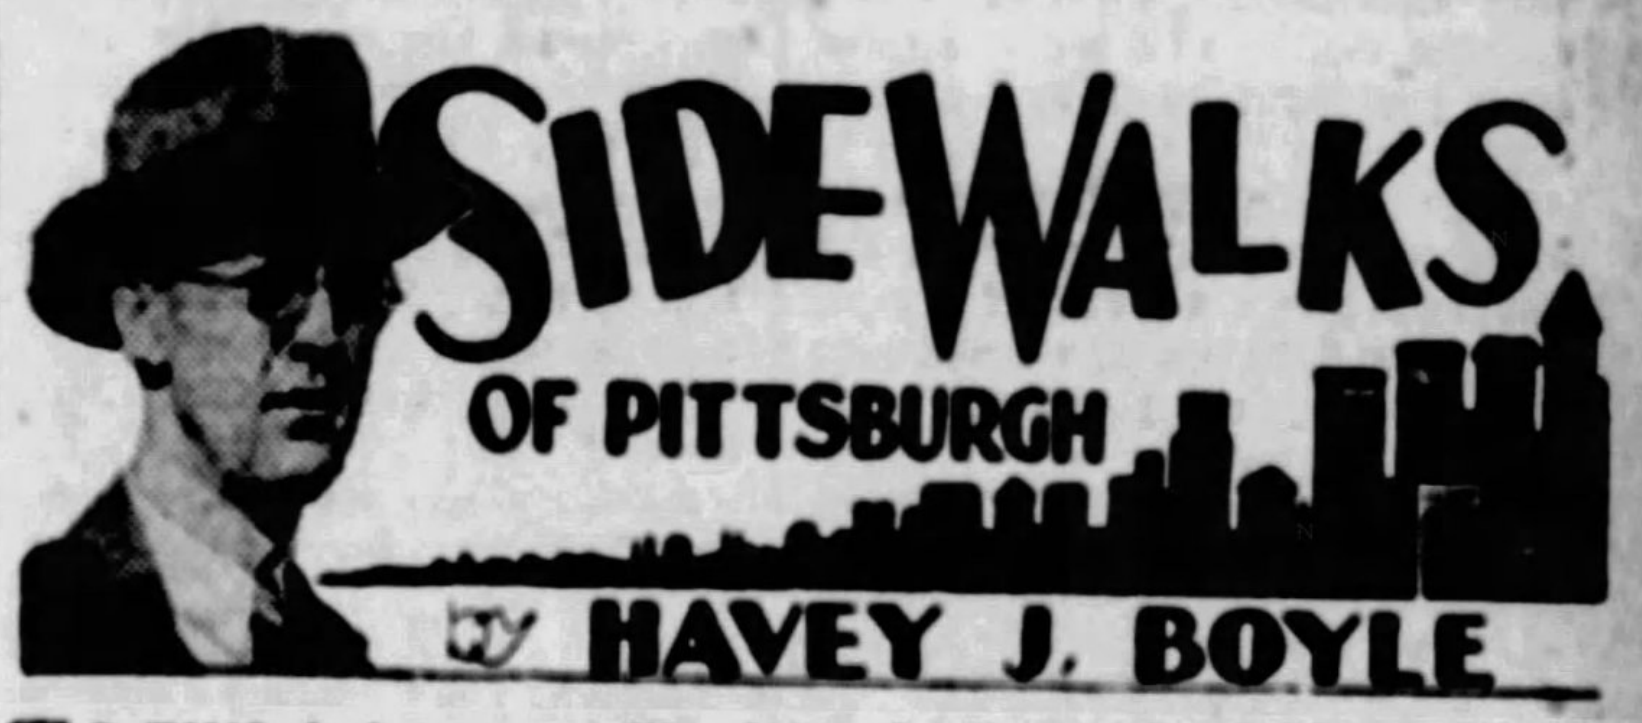
If you're letting that bobbed hair grow, you're facing the problem of "doing it up" while it's growing. Dolores Brinkman, film actress, shows how. She rolls the awkward ends, as she calls 'em, in an "Eventually Roll," tucks in a Spanish comb, and forgets about it.



SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

TO THIS desk comes a filler from the Owens Bottle Company. So as to clear up any misunderstanding the filler is for a memorandum book the company sends out to its friends.

Somewhat in this connection is a headline clipped out and sent in by a contributor which reads: "Won't Quit Liquor; Woman Shoots Him." This is a dangerous precedent.

A COLUMNIST taken to task for speaking too often of himself wrote these lines: "What should one talk about? If you talk about yourself you're conceited. If you talk about your business you're a shop talker. If you talk too much you're a bore. If you haven't anything to talk about your uninteresting.

"WHAT SHOULD ONE TALK ABOUT?"

If you talk about your baby or your club you're a Babbitt. If you talk about people you're a knocker. If you speak sweetly of a friend you're a log roller. If you talk about art you're a highbrow. If you don't talk at all you're high hat."

A FRIENDLY little organization is the Yellow Dogs. An invitation to an initiation of the Allegheny County Kennel at Braddock comes in the mail. We quote from the more refined parts of the invitation: "Please stand by and point a tooth-scalloped, lousy ear while the information is broadcast. . . . With ringing yaps of hilarity the Transcendental and Effervescent Fidos will delouse some 200 flea-bitten mutts and raise them to the happy estate of Yellow Dogdom. . . . The head of the order is called the Chief Cur."

Their bark must be much worse than their bite, which, by the way, will be exhibited at a banquet to be held after the initiation.

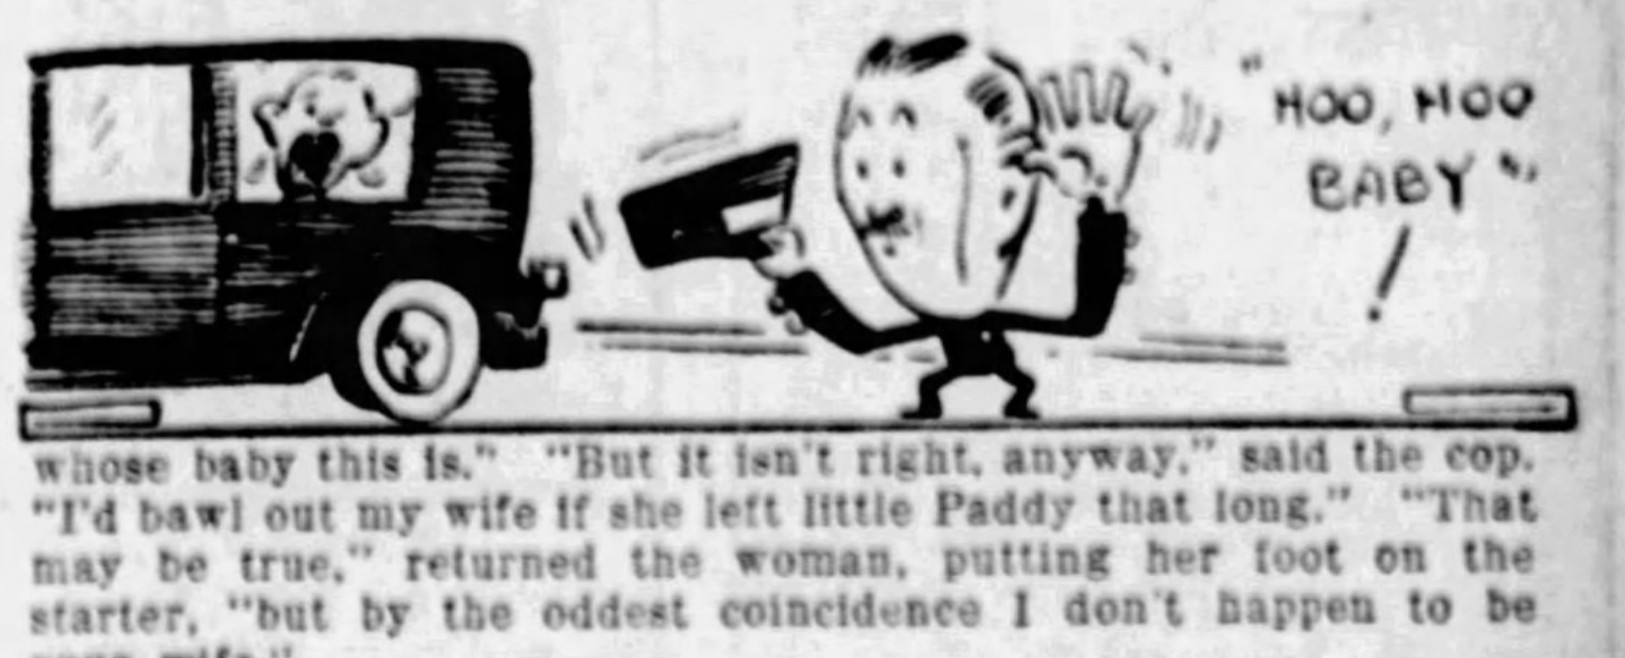
THERE was nothing in the book of regulations to cover the case so the policeman scratched his head perplexedly and felt a little dissatisfied that he could do nothing about it. The case was this: A well-dressed woman drove onto a street where parking was allowed, stepped out of the car, locked the doors and walked away. In the car she left a child of two years.

The baby started to cry about 15 minutes after the woman departed and in this way attracted the attention of the policeman. The mother was gone for three hours, during which time the policeman spent as many minutes as he could wagging his fingers, calling out "Hoo, hoo, baby," in the best approved fashion of the male in trying to quiet an infant, and did everything else he thought of to make the fretful baby happy.

At last the woman returned and stepped into the car. "You shouldn't have left that baby alone that way," said the policeman. "Is that so?" returned the mother. "I'd like to know whose baby this is." "But it isn't right, anyway," said the cop. "I'd bawl out my wife if she left little Paddy that long." "That may be true," returned the woman, putting her foot on the starter, "but by the oddest coincidence I don't happen to be your wife."



The policeman scratched his head, thumbed through the book of rules, but could find nothing to warrant an arrest. "Now, if that baby had just been a kitten or a pup," said the policeman to himself, "I could have done something about it. Unluckily, it was just a baby."

JERRY The Epic of a Girl Who Had to Wait · by Elenore MEHERIN

The One-Cylinder Marriage Is Dishonest and Fatal In This Generation

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Jerry King, good looking, charming and nineteen, falls in love at first sight with Saxon Rhodes, a young architect. Marza, her fascinating mother, warns her that idealists like Saxon make poor husbands. In spite of his flirtation with other girls Jerry confesses her love for him, and when he goes abroad to study, promises to wait for him. She refuses a proposal of marriage from Heinie Ross, a wealthy suitor. Saxon comes home and tells her as soon as he has paid off five thousand dollars he owes, his uncle will take him into partnership. Jerry agrees to wait three years longer. She wonders whether Saxon loves her as completely as she loves him. Saxon calls on his sister who warns him against marrying anyone and facing poverty. Saxon's attention to Ora Pringle, charming divorcee, gives Jerry a pang of jealousy. Saxon apologizes for his neglect. Then while going to call on him, she meets Ora coming out of his office.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

SHE jumped down from the table, gave her hat a rakish pull and put her arm in Saxon's. "Well, she's a great handsome hulk of a dame, a big, ox-eyed, beautiful Juno, and can probably live on her lovely flesh for the three to seven years it takes to earn bread and butter in architecture. You wouldn't recommend the career to a starving sister or loveress, would you?"

She whistled softly: "Will he go Sunday? Friday—Saturday—Sunday—I wonder."

As they sat at dinner he regarded her for a long while in silence. Then quietly: "Jerry, why is a woman always suspicious of other women?"

"They know them. Why is man the pursuer always flattered to become man, the trapped? Saxon—why does a man always figure that he has nothing to lose in an intrigue?"

"Because he hasn't!"

"Just as much as a girl. Perhaps more because he's so guileless—so unaware. He throws things away without knowing that he's reckless and squandering—till perhaps long afterwards. Too late!"

"Oh," thought she burningly, "he's lured by her. He thinks it harmless—his right! And he's going in for it."

CHAPTER XXVIII.

SUNDAY it rained—one of those fine, silvery rains that come from a gray sky; that keep falling and falling with still, resolute dreariness. Nothing virile, nothing ruffian and wild. Just a gray persistent rush and melancholy.

They had a crackling fire in Marza's living room, glow on the red and green covers of books, wavering light on the pictures, and there by the piano a throng of shadows.

They sat over a late luncheon. Pauses of dreamy silence; a flash of gaiety; a golden laugh.

Now Flo Arnold and Boris Ivanovitch, the Russian painter, discussed the future of California as an art center—a new, robust Athens with Phidias and Praxiteles reincarnated; now Marza stooping to rake the coals, the long thrilling line of her chin and throat touched with radiance from the flame.

Now Robert Caples moving to the piano. He played softly—the ballad music from Faust. That delicate and gleeful jewel song. And swinging from this to the passionate, piercing tender duet.

"Oh, why did he choose that?" thought Jerry, loitering near the window. The music tore across her nerves. And the rain out there—dreary — unceasing, pervasive like the pain in her heart.

After 3 now—long after 3. He wasn't coming. She hadn't asked him his plans. He was probably with Ora now.

So it would end. This was the beginning of the end.

She pressed her forehead against the damp window pane. The music swelled to rapture. Robert Caples playing to Marza—to her alone, his homely face now fascinating with that boyish, eager pleading look.

Marza's head flung back against the cushions, lips parted with a red, dreaming smile.

"She loves him," thought Jerry, bitterly, "and holds him utterly."

Suddenly she was flying across the room and Marza calling playfully: "Not so obvious, pet—"

A laugh of almost suffocating happiness: "Ah-ha—you're here!"

"And you're one fooled, Jerry, aren't you?"

"Indeed not!"

"Liar! You've had me damned and burned, haven't you?"

He winked and shook the powdery raindrops in her face: "Not yet!"

"Who cares!"

The lost day—the day so unbearably dismal now abeam with gladness.

"Oh, play that again," she ordered Robert—"play it again and put in more chills and fevers!"

* * *

"I guess I'm pretty good," she whispered with childish exuberance, "because, as you say yourself, Ora's no wash-out!"

A few days later some of this joy vanished. It was a Thursday—more than a week since the carnival. They went to John's for a late tea.

Hal Stacey, who had obstinately refused to return home, was master of ceremonies. And in a pitiably nervous state.

He was touchingly eager to please. He wanted to talk; wanted to hear if they blamed him.

Underneath he was pathetically anxious to hear of his wife.

"Then why don't you cut the baby stuff and go face the music?" advised John.

"Don't you do it," shouted Inga from behind the screen. "You'll only crash into another discord. Penitence makes a mad wife madder."

To Jerry as they buttered toast in their remote corner: "A mean little cat. If he goes to her now, she'll scratch his eyes out! I told her the score. She'll be turning up any moment to make the overtures. She started the war—"

The words were scarcely finished when the door was pushed and a frail, nervous laugh flung into the room: "Can I come in?"

Vera moved delicately, quickly to John's side. She stood with her eyes down. Abruptly she turned to Hal with another light, nervous laugh: "I was strolling this way and thought you'd be glad to see me."

He nodded—quite unable to speak. A few moments later they went out together—arm in arm. Hal said in a gulpy, muffled tone: "Thanks for buggy ride, John! Until we fight again."

"Whew!" said Saxon. "Inspiring, isn't it?"

"That comes," said Inga angrily, "of these one-cylinder marriages. Why won't people who have nothing in common but a physical attraction face the fact and accept it?

"Because they are swept by this physical affinity, why must they attempt a spiritual, financial residential and intellectual relation as well?

"The one-cylinder marriage is the most dishonest and fatal thing in this generation."

"And the prevailing kind," offered John.

They sat over the cinnamon toast and tea and gave glib theories for the solution of the world's troubles.

"But women like Ora Pringle are a thorn in the flesh of wives," said Sylvia, the long black eyebrows meeting over her nose. "They've no responsibilities and titanic audacity."

"Why," asked Inga, "are they not accepted for what they are—a gay dash of color in a drab world? I should think a wife would be willing to let her husband have a harmless flare at it now and then . . ."

"The only time that sort of flare is harmless," remarked Jerry, wrinkling her nose in Saxon's face, "is when it goes out before it gets lit!"

"Oh, Ora's a good sort. You can't blame a woman of her type," went on the tolerant, easy-going Inga. "She's a kind of huntress. Men are her game—her legitimate game. She goes after them as inevitably as a cat goes after a mouse."

Then this—bringing Jerry's heart bounding into her throat: "But Vera's safe for a while. I met Ora last Saturday in Oakland. She was on her way to Sacramento—called there unexpectedly, so she said—"

Last Saturday! So Ora wasn't home to keep that appointment Sunday at 4.

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By Adele Garrison

Dicky Is Sure the "Owl" Will Not Return to the Farmhouse for at Least a Week

I SHOT a quick furtive glance at the young man who called himself "George Logan Jackson," when he remarked that perhaps Dicky's delay in returning to the house was caused by his finding the owl whose hooting had so frightened Miss Lincoln. His comment was apparently a careless and facetious one, but I already had made up my mind that the young man was an old acquaintance of Eleanor Lincoln's, although they pretended never to have met before the encounter at the railroad station and I found myself wondering whether he shared my conjecture that the owl's hooting came from human lips and was some sort of menacing signal, understood only too well by the young girl.

I answered my own question in the negative as I scanned the countenance of the youth which held only amusement at his own conception of his host's struggles with the mythical owl.

Miss Lincoln already had repeated the story she had told to Katherine, Lillian and me, and I made up my mind that either the men were more gullible than we had been or else were possessed of distinct histrionic power. For there was not the slightest trace of anything approaching skepticism upon any face, and the sympathy they gave her was apparently spontaneous and heartfelt.

Indeed, they were so attentive that I was able to take my own thoughts from her and direct them toward Dicky. I was very sure that when he dashed out of the door he had not done so in chase of an owl, but that he believed the darkness outside to hold a human menace.

What had come to him out there in the darkness? There had been no sound of a struggle, I was sure of that. Otherwise Dicky's mother would have sounded the alarm and the other men would have rushed outside. But I knew, of course, that if my theory were correct and one of the vagabond Transvanians from the shack behind the farm had given that sinister call, he would have taken to his heels as soon as he saw Dicky dash for the door.

Unfortunately for my peace of mind, I knew also Dicky's persistence. If his mind were running along the same lines as mine he would not stop his pursuit of the man until he reached the shack in the woodland and satisfied himself of the whereabouts of the two men.

I tried to reassure myself with the remembrance of the queer mirth-filled interview between Dicky and one of the vagabonds which Katie had reported to me, and with my husband's reiterated statement that there was no harm in the red-bearded man. But I never had shared his optimism, and I knew that he considered the red-bearded man's companion as a distinctly undesirable citizen. Therefore, it did not take me long to work up a very real panic, which, however, I strenuously concealed from the rest. But just as I felt that I could no longer stand inaction, I saw Dicky come through the living room and hall to the veranda.

He had his usual debonair and unruffled air, but after a searching though furtive scrutiny, I discovered that he had changed shoes, hose and trousers. He must have been far afield to get them muddy or grass stained, for Jim keeps the wide lawn close shorn.

"Did you get the owl?" The question was a chorus, and Dicky laughed at their eagerness as he answered.

"No, but I frightened him so much that I do not think he will light on our trees for a week at least."

Was it my fancy, or was he covertly watching Eleanor Lincoln as he spoke?

"My Skin Is Hopeless"

You won't say that if you will use the skin corrective that works two days at once! Your skin must be both cleared and healed. Sulphur is a remarkable skin clarifier, while nothing is better for healing than menthol. The two make a complete skin corrective, something you have not had before. While the sulphur clears up the pimples, blackheads and eczema blotches, the menthol heals the broken and sore tissue. It's wonderful how this combination works. Long-standing cases of skin troubles are cleared up, often in two or three days' time. Rowles Mentho Sulphur is inexpensive and all druggists supply it in jars ready to use. Be sure it's Rowles.

*Read how to guard your children's teeth and gums

PARENTS realize today that "baby" teeth have a tremendous effect not only upon the permanent teeth—but upon the actual growth and shape of the jaws and upon the child's very health.

The results of an investigation which E. R. Squibb & Sons recently caused to be made among 50,000 practicing dentists is of special interest to parents who are seeking the correct oral hygiene for their children to practice. The answers state that:

(1) Acids are the most frequent cause of tooth decay and irritated gums.

(2) The most serious trouble occurs at the place where teeth and gums meet—known as The Danger Line.

(3) The best product known to neutralize acids in the mouth is Milk of Magnesia.

Squibb's Dental Cream, because it contains more than 50% of Squibb's Milk of Magnesia, is obviously ideal to bring the needed protection to your children. Each time it is used, the Milk of Magnesia is forced into every pit and crevice where acids can form. There it neutralizes all existing acids and remains for a long time for further protection.

In addition, Squibb's Dental Cream not only cleans thoroughly, but contains no harsh grit or substance that might injure a child's delicate mouth. It is harmless if swallowed. Its use will help to protect your children from the dangers of mouth acids. At druggists—40c a large tube.

Sage Tea Turns Gray Hair Dark

By SHIRLEY BLAKE

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture. You can get this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, for only 75 cents, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses Wyeth's Sage Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

GAS IN STOMACH HURTS THE HEART

Thousands of Cases of Heart Failure Are Caused by Acute Indigestion, Says Medical Writer.

Gas pressure from sour, acid, upset stomach is not only nauseating and highly uncomfortable but some day it may prove fatal!

When your meals are followed by bloating, a feeling of fullness or pressure, shortness of breath and pains around the heart, you may be sure that the acid condition of your stomach is producing a GAS that is pushing upwards and crowding your heart. That's the reason for the shortness of breath and sharp, shooting pains.

Whether young or old, the presence of stomach gas is truly serious and should always be given prompt and careful attention.

To quickly banish gas, cleanse and sweeten the stomach, neutralize the acidity—nothing is better than the daily or "as needed" use of ordinary Bisurated Magnesia. It gives almost instant relief.

May Drug Co. or any good druggist can supply Bisurated Magnesia, in powder or tablet form, at very small cost—but be sure you get BISURATED Magnesia—recommended by Doctors and Druggists throughout the civilized world for more than 12 years.

Since John Got "That Kruschen Feeling"

John was a good scout—not much energy to be sure—hated to get up in the morning and hated to go to work when he did get up.

Rather dull eyes, you'd say, and a kind of unhealthy looking skin—and his walk! Well, you wouldn't call it sprightly.

To tell the truth John had lost about all the ambition he ever had and his wife worried quite a lot about it.

Then John got that "Kruschen feeling"—he didn't know at first what was happening to him, but his wife did. Every morning she dropped two tablets of Kruschen Salts into his cup of coffee.

Nothing much happened for two weeks and then the glorious awakening began. John actually got out of bed without being called twice—he began to shave every morning—he ate his breakfast with a relish and started off to work as happy as a boy going to the circus.

As the weeks rolled by, his eyes brightened—his skin cleared—there was energy in his walk and vigor in his actions—his mind was keener—John was a new man and his wife was happy.

But she didn't stop the "little daily dose" of Kruschen—she had read that Kruschen Salts are a combination of the six vitalizing mineral salts so necessary to healthy life. She knew that the Kruschen habit meant everything in the world to her—She now had a husband she was proud of.

"The little daily dose" of Kruschen Salts revitalizes the entire internal system, stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and from the blood the harmful acid and toxins are eliminated. Then the joy that vigorous health brings makes life worth living. 60 Tablets, 60 cents (20 days treatment) at McCulloch Drug Stores and druggists the world over.

It's the Little Daily Dose That Does It.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Stage and Play Society's Show Is Entertaining Break in Lenten Social Monotony

QUITE an entertaining break in the social monotony of Lent was the Stage and Play Society's performance of Milne's "The Romantic Age," last night in Carnegie Music Hall, and one had only to look around to discover that most of our local "400" took advantage of it.

I noticed that the Sumner B. Elys, whose daughter, Esther, and son, Frederick, were in the cast, were there, as well as Mrs. W. Harry Brown, who just recently returned from Palm Beach; the Howard K. Burgwins, Mrs. Remsen V. Messler, Mrs. Frederick Goddard Kay, Mrs. Ralph Baggaley, Mrs. Richard M. Jennings, Mrs. Eben Clarke, Miss Anne Robinson, Jane Edson, Jane Bennett, Mrs. Oscar Ragnar Wikander, Miss Pauletta Guffey, Mrs. John H. Leet, the Leonard Kent Guilers, the John M. Freemans, Miss Alice Orr, the H. A. Ingrams, Mrs. Chambers McKibbin, Mrs. Norman McLeod, Mrs. George C. Burgwin, Jr., the junior Mr. and Mrs. Louis Robinson Schmertz, the Francis J. LeMoynes, Geraldine and Helen West, Clark Miller, George Nicola, the Joseph Scribners, the junior Charles A. Painters, Mrs. John F. Walton, Mrs. Frederick Blackburn, Priscilla Hall, Miss Isabelle Chalfant, Mr. and Mrs. George Claypool, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Mann, Mrs. James McClelland, Miss Sarah C. McClelland and many others.

"The Romantic Age" is, as you might imagine, an English comedy, and, apropriately enough, it was directed by E. Martin Browne, who formerly lived in London, and who came here about a year ago and is teaching at the Carnegie Institute of Technology. James Macfarlane staged the production and the properties were in charge of Miss Eleanor Grier, Miss Elizabeth Macfarlane, Mrs. John L. McK. Yardley and Mrs. Thomas Mabon.

Three officers of the society, Carroll Fitzhugh, the president; Harold Geoghegan, vice president, and Mrs. Wilmer M. Jacoby, assistant secretary and treasurer, were in the cast, and in addition to Esther and Frederick Ely, the others were Mrs. Percy Kammerer, Elizabeth Lupton Scott, James W. Macfarlane and Rodman McClintock.

After the performance the cast and the board of directors of the society were guests of the Fitzhughs at supper in the Pittsburgh Golf Club. The board members include Mrs. George P. Bassett, Jr., James P. Cassidy, Esther Ely, Eleanor Grier, Mrs. Thomas J. Hilliard, Mrs. Edward J. House, Reginald Johnson, James W. Macfarlane, Mrs. Haines Allen Machesney, Madeleine McClintock, Mrs. George S. Oliver, Mrs. Joseph M. Scribner, Chester M. Wallace and Mrs. C. B. Watkins.

Mrs. Machesney and Walter B. Edmundson are the society's general stage managers and Mrs. Machesney took her place last night for the first time after a long illness. Mrs. John H. K. Burgwin, Madeleine McClintock and Fielder Clark were at the door.

If Women knew the discovery of a great motion picture director, their beauty would be instantly enhanced

"I HAVE discovered that color can make or mar feminine beauty," says Mr. Dwan. "Its effect is instantly seen on the features. One shade of a color of face powder will soften, beautify, heighten a light or deepen a shadow, and so bring out to the full and enhance all the gifts of nature; while another make in the same color fails utterly of its purpose."

Having studied the subject, Mr. Dwan recommends as a result Houbigant Face Powder, and his commendation is made, as he says, "because the appropriate Houbigant shades seem to me to have a property of combining with the natural skin tones and immeasurably increasing their beauty. This property is not possessed, to my knowledge, in the same degree in any other make of powder."

Not only are the Houbigant shades superior, but the powder itself is of course of superb quality, fragranced with the incomparable Houbigant odeurs, at $1.50 and 75c the box. For purse use it comes in the smart hexagonal double compact for $2.50. Choose, too, as your powder base, the one perfect product for the purpose—Quelques Fleurs Skin Lotion—4 oz., $1.

72, SHE WEDS BUTLER

SERVANT, MADE BOSS, FIRES OTHERS

International News Service.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Relatives of Mrs. J. Pierrepont Edwards, wealthy 72-year-old widow of Bedford Hills, N. Y., were amazed today upon learning that she had eloped with her Scotch butler.

The butler, John Burden, is 43. Mrs. Edwards, a leading member of society, is a great-grandmother. She is worth more than a million dollars.

The relatives of the aged widow were amazed and angry, and her servants were even angrier. Moreover, several of them were out of a job. Burden instantly discharged those who failed to be properly impressed by his rise in the world.

Accusing his former associates of undue familiarity with the master of the house (himself), the ex-butler said:

"Please remember that I am master here. And I am to be called Mr. Burden."

Burden had been the butler for the Edwards family for 25 years. This is his first marriage.

The Edwards 'mansion is one of the show places of Bedford Hills, an aristocratic residential section.

Relatives of Mrs. Edwards have called a family conference to discuss the situation, it was learned. The relatives include Larry and Monte Waterbury, well-known polo players, and a daughter, Mrs. Reginald Johnson, of Boston.

Attacked

MRS. JOHANNA HARVEY

Screams of Mrs. Johanna Harvey, 2508 Wyandotte street, wife of Fire Captain Delos Harvey, routed a Negro who knocked her down in front of her home last night. The footpad struck Mrs. Harvey with a flower pot and inflicted lacerations of the scalp. She was taken to the Passavant Hospital and then taken home.

REVOLT SPLITS DEMOCRATS

A revolt in the Allegheny County Democratic organization appeared today when it was learned that John M. Henry had filed papers as a candidate against County Chairman David L. Lawrence, who is seeking re-election. Lawrence, a former member of the Board of Registration Commissioners, was dropped from that position by Gifford Pinchot. Henry is a former assistant United States district attorney. Back of Henry in the fight are W. K. Hodgkinson and Mrs. Ida L. Allen, named to the registration board by Pinchot.

THIEVES TAKE OAKLAND DRUG STORE'S WHISKEY

Thieves who broke into the Oakland Pharmacy, 3400 Fifth avenue, last night, stole $250 and four pints of whisky. At the confectionery store of Harry Harris, 5112 Lytle street, $1.50 and cigarets and tobacco worth $50, were taken.

MUSICIANS HOLD MINE BENEFIT

The Pittsburgh Musicians Society raised approximately $2,000 for the families of striking miners of Western Pennsylvania at a benefit midnight show in the Davis Theater last night.

Artists from the principal theaters of the city contributed their services, the Davis Theater gave "the use of the hall" and stage hands added their bit gratis.

While it was a benefit program, the merit of the bill warranted the enthusiastic audience. From the Nixon Theater came Beatrice Lillie, star of "She's My Baby," with the Tiller Girls, Four Nightengales, Clifton Webb, Ula Sharon, Jack Whiting.

The Davis Theater added Jack Hanley, Prince LeiLani, Fulton and Parker. The Stanley sent the well-known Gus Edwards with his company and Loew's Penn and Loew's Aldine sent the house units from the two theaters.

Plunkett and Mason and Frank and May Stanley represented the Harris Theater and Andy Eich brought his band from the Nixon cabaret with Sugar Marcella, Victoria Regal, Gagnon and Lane, Miss Patti and Dick Ware.

Pittsburgh was well represented by native entertainers. Frank Maggio and his New China restaurant orchestra, Baby Peggy Eamers of the East End, formerly of the movies and the R. V. B. Trio were on hand to enliven things.

Besides their entertainers, the Stanley, Penn and Nixon Theaters sent their orchestras. H. George Becker, president of the Society, directed the benefit, with the aid of C. E. Smith, manager of the Davis.

Leaves Hair Twice as Beautiful

In a few minutes time, your hair is soft, silky and radiant with life, gloss and lustre.

To have beautiful, fresh looking hair is simply a matter of proper shampooing.

While your hair must have frequent and regular washing to keep it beautiful, it cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soaps. The free alkali in ordinary soaps soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why discriminating women, everywhere, now use Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo. This clear, pure and entirely greaseless product brings out all the real beauty of the hair and cannot possibly injure.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

It leaves the hair soft, silky and easy to manage and makes it fairly sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre.

You can get Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo at any drug store.

A four-ounce bottle lasts for months.

Marble-Like Beauty

By Edna Wallace Hopper

To lend to your face the even-toned really smooth skin you must have a perfect powder base.

I have spent years looking for a cream to enhance the loveliness of my own skin, which has always had the best care. In France, where I have always found my hopes realized, I found what I wished. Now you can have it, too.

Simply ask for Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream.

To take care of the many women whose skin has an abundance of natural oil, I have it made in the Vanishing type. Fo, my own use, and for skins like mine, I recommend the Cold type.

Both types are available on any toilet counter—several sizes.

Good Health Is Most Essential to Beauty

SOMETIMES I fear we have terribly false standards of beauty. We overlook those qualities which go with good health.

DR. COPELAND

It is a remarkable thing that photographs are usually disappointing. They do not reproduce the natural coloring, the tints and reflections of the eyes, the rippling muscle-play of the face. They are dead, fixed, staring things.

Yet as we study photographs of persons we know, we discover apparent beauty where we had never suspected it. The features are regular, the imperfections of the skin have disappeared, and all in all here is the picture of an apparently pretty girl. Yet we know "there is something wrong with the picture." What is it?

The fact is, it isn't regularity of feature that counts first in determining beauty. You look over the persons you consider to be unusually good looking. Take them one at a time and feature by feature. You will be surprised to find high cheekbones, excessive breadth of face, narrowness between the eyes, lack of symmetry in the face, a nose irregular and onesided, a chin receding or too prominnt, outstanding ears or ears too small or too large, one eye more prominent than the other, etc.,

It is painful to be so brutally frank about this, but I want you to wake up to the fact that bad as you think you are, all your neighbors are just as bad or even worse. You are silly beyond words to worry over your own features or any one of them.

It is more important to have clean, clear skin, natural redness of lip and cheek, bright, sparkling, clear eyes, white teeth, firm muscles and elastic step—these are far more important than to remake your face to conform to some "type" immortalized by Greek or other ancient.

Suppose you are bow-legged. What of it? I'd rather have crooked legs than a crooked character. You may not train yourself into straight-leggedness, but you can cultivate your mind, storing it with interesting material. You can learn to smile and to laugh. You can have a clear skin and bright eyes. You can have a tireless body. In short, you can cultivate qualities that will make you attractive to a wide circle of admiring friends. This is far better than to have a surgeon take you apart and readjust your bones, merely because they offend your self-established ideas of beauty.

Let us make up our minds to grow old gracefully. Let us accept the complexions and skin and figures that belong to our period. Let us not be too critical of our own looks, nor too fault finding with what the Creator gave us.

To my mind, health is the first essential to beauty. We cannot afford to risk that good health by needless operations. Let us cultivate our own style of beauty and depend on the store of vigorous health and well-filled mind to make our way through this pretty good world.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Astrology has been considered symbolical, but recent discoveries confirm the idea that it is based on physical science.—ALDRICH.

ALTHOUGH there is augury for much constructive effort, especially in the line of new projects and adventures, yet some hampering or perplexing situations may arise. These, however, are of minor consequence provided there be vigilance against subtlety and craft and that papers be watchfully signed. There may be substantial returns for trustworthy efforts and diligence.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year of substantial progress in old ventures as well as new undertakings if they will but be cautious in signing all writings and are vigilant as to deception and subtlety.

A child born on this day may be splendidly equipped to make its own way by industry, perseverance and responsibility as well as through methods of tact and secret agreement or diplomacy.

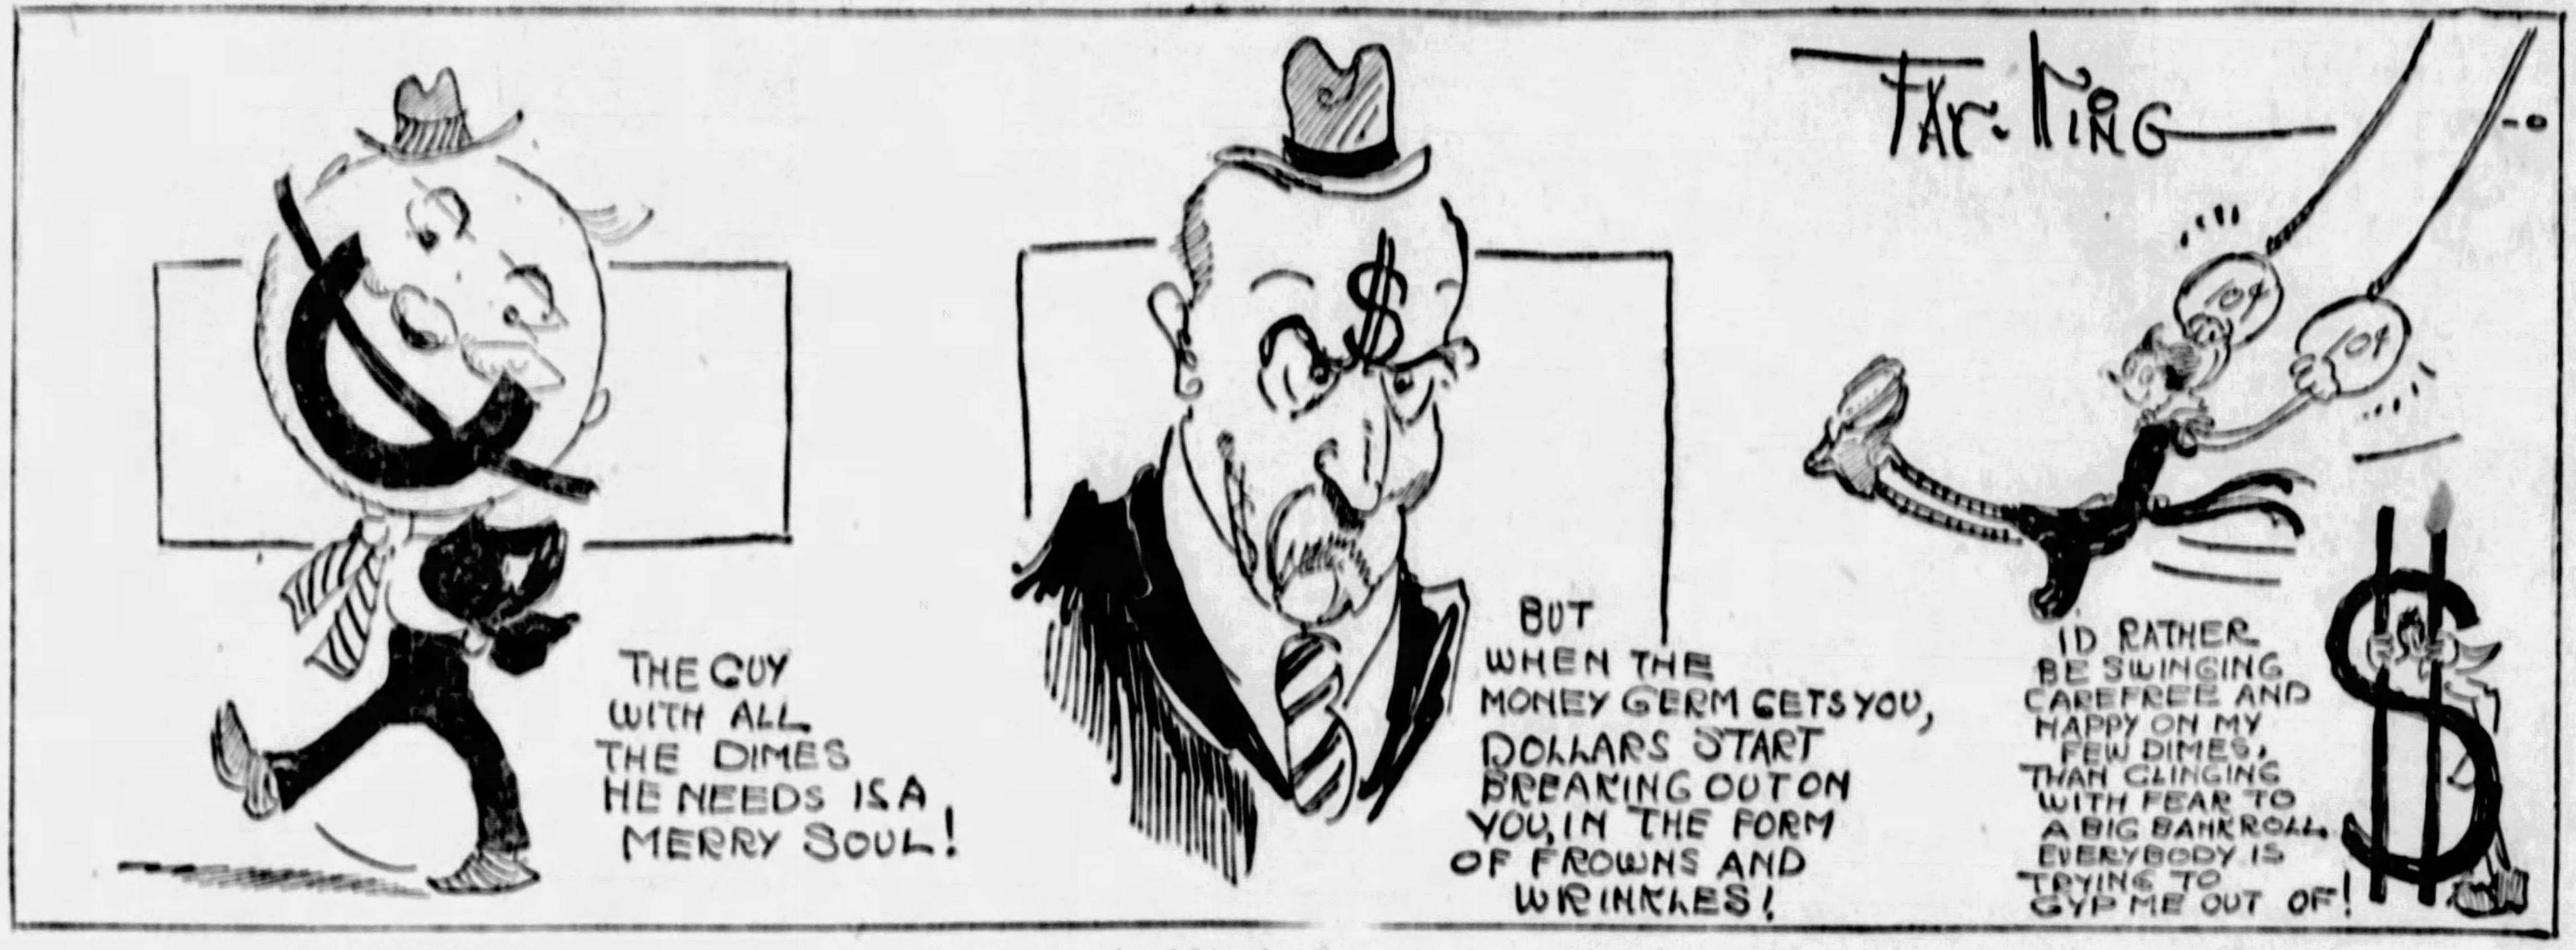
Too Much Money Real Evil, Fay King Reveals



FAY KING
THE GUY WITH ALL THE DIMES HE NEEDS IS A MERRY SOUL!
BUT WHEN THE MONEY GERM GETS YOU, DOLLARS START BREAKING OUT ON YOU, IN THE FORM OF FROWNS AND WRINKLES!
I'D RATHER BE SWINGING CAREFREE AND HAPPY ON MY FEW DIMES, THAN CLINGING WITH FEAR TO A BIG BANKROLL EVERYBODY IS TRYING TO GYP ME OUT OF!

By FAY KING

MONEY can do a lot for you, but it can also do a lot to you!

Haven't you noticed how some people who looked merry and carefree while they were getting along nicely on plenty of dimes, become changed when the big bankroll bug began to bite them?

The wide smile of the happy days begins to give place to frowns that look mighty much like dollar signs breaking out on them!

Enough money is mighty nice, but too much money is something else again!

When you haven't any money you're in a tough spot, but when you've got money you are often spotted by those who can make it tougher!

You have to carry it to banks so nobody can steal it from you. You have to hide it and deny you have it so that nobody will bean you for it!

The more you get, the more you want, and dimes begin to look bigger than dollars when they're going out!

You get headaches and heartaches trying to figure out how you can make more. That's one of the worst dollar signs.

Getting money is hard, but keeping the other fellow from getting it after you've got it is often harder!

It's sad thinking for those who sit and sigh because they never made a fortune, but it's darn sore thinking to sour music for those who did have it and let it get away!

I don't envy any bird with a big bankroll!

Meditations of a Married Woman

By HELEN ROWLAND

THIS is the age of back-less evening gowns, kick-less drinks, fire-less cookers, companion-less marriage, tune-less music and heart-less love affairs.

* * *

A girl never can be sure whether a man gets intoxicated on the eve of his wedding in order to celebrate his happiness, to give himself the courage to go through with it, or just to forget that he is signing away his liberty.

HELEN ROWLAND

Every woman's heart is a memory-book, packed between the leaves with the faded roses of dead spring romances. They sweeten her life with a faint warm fragrance, long after the chill of disillusionment.

* * *

No matter how determinedly a man may have pursued a woman before marriage, after marriage, he always has a secret suspicion that she "hypnotized" him into it.

* * *

Never listen seriously to what a man says before the first drink, when he's cautious—nor after the third drink, when he's irresponsible.

A model wife must be a sort of circus-horse, with a broad back, a steady gait and the capacity for going around and around in the same old narrow circle without kicking.

* * *

After the scars have been healed a woman always sighs, "How I loved him!"—a man, "How she loved me!"

* * *

This "Companionate Marriage" may be all right—but the Lord knows it's hard enough to keep a man in the straight and narrow path, nowadays, without starting him right off at the crossroads.

* * *

A woman doesn't dare to "punish" a man for anything, these days—because she knows that there is always another woman waiting around the corner to "console" him.

FOR THE LOVELORN

Majo

DEAR MISS GALE:

We are constant readers of your column and agree with you on the kissing question. However, it seems that practically all young men we meet are of the mushy type. The question, "What has become of the old-fashioned girl?" is frequently brought up. We think that this question can be applied to young men also. We are two girls, both aged 19. Is there any way in which we can become acquainted with nice young men through your column? We will appreciate your courtesy in giving us an answer.

MAJO.

I am sorry, but my correspondents can meet only in this column.

Puzzled

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a girl in my teens and am a senior in high school. I know two very nice boys, one of whom I like very much. For the present we shall call one Jack and the other Jim. I have known Jack for about four months, and have gone quite steady with him. I always respected him and feelings were and still are quite mutual on his part. He gave me his class ring to wear and as I thought I cared for him, I accepted the ring. Now, through a slight jealously on his part, we have had an argument and I think it's time to cease friendships. I want to return the ring, but I want to do it in a way that will not make him feel badly about it. Can you tell me how I can do it? About two months ago I met Jim and from the first sight I have liked him. I show my part of the affair, and he does, too, but not in the way that would cause others to believe his love. Will you kindly suggest a way by which I can find out if he really cares for me?

PUZZLED.

Just tell him that you have decided you should not accept such a gift from him, my dear. If he is interested and attentive you can be sure the other boy likes you.

Waiting Ardently

DEAR MISS GALE:

We are two young men 21 and 22 years of age, and we are coming to you for advice, since you are giving such excellent advice in your "Lovelorn." We are considered good looking and popular with the opposite sex. We have dates nearly every night and every girl we meet wants to smoke, drink or pet and we find that if we don't indulge we don't have a very good time. Now, should we form these bad habits, or aren't there any girls that don't do these things.

WAITING ARDENTLY.

Of course there are lots of girls who don't do these things, and they say they can't find any boys who don't expect it of them.

Try this easy way
To Lose It

Do it for beauty's sake, for new health and fitness. If you have tried the hard ways without success, learn what this pleasant way can do.

Some twenty years ago research men discovered a cause of excess fat. It lies in lack of certain elements which turn food into fuel and energy, rather than into fat. They found and widely tested a way to combat that cause.

Then that method was embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. The formula is given in every box, also the reasons for results. Users know what they are taking and why.

Marmola has been used for 20 years—millions of boxes of it. Users have told others the results. That is one reason why excess fat has become almost the exception.

Abnormal exercise or diet is not advised though moderation helps. Users of Marmola simply take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal. They know why it comes down—in a natural way—so they have no fear of harm.

Try this modern method, which so many have employed for so long. Watch the results for a little while and judge for yourself what they mean to you. Do this now. Go order a box today.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out he will get them at once from his jobber.

NEW LEAGUE THREAT KEEPS BUCS HERE

By CARL W. SHATTO.

PITTSBURGH hockey fandom, steeped in gloom yesterday, has plenty of cause for rejoicing today. One month ago it appeared that the ice Pirates were to be transferred to Cleveland and that Pittsburgh was to be without hockey indefinitely; today the situation is completely reversed and the prospect is that Pittsburgh will be represented in each of two major hockey leagues within the next year or two.

Slightly more than one month ago, when activities looking toward the transfer of the local ice club were fast, free and unrestrained, Roy D. Schooley, the father of modern hockey here, lifted the blanket of despondency that had fallen upon Pittsburgh fandom by announcing that a new hockey league of the caliber of the present National League was well within the realm of possibility, and that even if the Pirates were taken away big league hockey would be returned to Pittsburgh within a comparatively short time through the medium of this new league.

SITUATION CHANGED

Since the time of Schooley's first announcement, the hockey situation here has undergone a radical change. Today it appears that the present National League entry is to remain here indefinitely, but the new situation has not brought about

CUYLER AS A CUB

HE'S A JEWEL TO M'CARTHY

Manager Joe McCarthy of the Cubs has reopened the Cuyler vs. Adams controversy with a bang by declaring that as good a player as Adams is he rates Cuyler far above him in playing ability and is more than satisfied he got the better of the trade with the Pirates.

RENEW CONTROVERSY

When the Pirates traded Kiki Cuyler to the Cubs for Sparky Adams and Pete Scott last fall, the fans were divided as to which club got the better of the swap. They haven't decided yet. Cuyler was a peach in the Pirate orchard when the above picture was taken, which was before he ran into difficulties with the local management last year.

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

BILL McKECHNIE generally has a good reason for any move that he may make in baseball, and no doubt he knew what he was doing when he traded Lester Bell, his regular third baseman, for Andy High of the Braves, but justification for the swap is difficult to find on the surface. As a matter of fact, the Cardinal management itself admitted that it was not getting value received in the deal, inasmuch as it demanded and was given a sum of cash in addition to High.

Lester Bell.

Bell has not been much of a hustler lately, it is said, but in his games against the Pirates he always looked like a good ball player, far better, at least than the man for whom he has been traded.

LESTER had an off year in 1927, fielding only .904 and batting only .260, but in 1926 he batted .325 and during the greater part of his time in the National League no fault could be found with his fielding. High hit better than Bell last year, registering .302, but he is not a good fielder.

Pittsburgh fans cannot back up the assertion of St. Louisans that Bell is weak at the stick, for Lester always did plenty of hitting at Forbes Field.

He was the second man to knock the ball over the scoreboard after it was moved to Forbes Field before the 1925 World Series.

PETE SCOTT, now a Pirate but then with the Cubs, was the first, smashing one of Emil Yde's offerings over the board on May 28, 1926, and Bell duplicated the feat against Lee eMadows on June 20 of

SPARKY ADAMS AS A PIRATE

HE FILLS PIRATE GAP

The Pirates got what they wanted when they landed Adams, for their main worry last year was at second base and Adams fills that gap to the queen's taste. So far as the Pirates are concerned, they don't care how well Cuyler goes with the Cubs just so long as Adams continues his good work here.

Ki Excels Sparky, McCarthy Says

AVALON, Catalina Island, Cal., March 22.—(INS.)—Reviewing the training season as his Chicago Cubs were making ready to break camp for the long trek East, Manager Joe McCarthy proceeded to reach around his abdomen, reading from left and to right, and shake hands with himself on the trade that brought Hazen (Kiki) Cuyler to the club. Cuyler, a prominent man-about-the-bench with the Pirates last year, has been a "wow" with the Cubs to date, his hitting, fielding

"BUZZ" ISHERWOOD, Verona boy and star pitcher of Homewood's County League entry last season, has finally signed with Clarksburg in the Middle Atlantic League.

Buzz had been dickering with Manager McGuire of the Canton club, but could not agree on terms. Isherwood had a good season in the county loop last year and is due to go up.

Beltzhoover's baseball nine has one of the best followings in the district. Manager Hite is working on the makeup of the team, but nothing has been definitely settled as yet.

Frank Anthony, who covered second base for Jimmy Black's North Side Board of Trade team, will be back with the Dennison entry in the Eastern Ohio League again this season. Anthony has not signed with any club in the County League, but it is certain that the little fellow will be with one of the best clubs in the loops.

HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL WITH MACK

For many a long and dreary day,
Poor Connie's tried to crown
The flagpole with a pennant gay,
For the boys of Quaker town;
But Lady Luck has not been nice,
She's flirted with him once or twice,
And when he failed to raise the price,
She turned him flatly down!

So now he's begun another grind,
His lady fair to woo,
We don't know what he has in mind,
But experience ought to do,
He ought to know just when to kiss;
Tho' some say ignorance is bliss,
We doubt it in a case like this,
For Connie's tried that, too!

Connie Mack, manager and part owner of the Philadelphia Athletics, who formerly ruled the baseball roost, has not won a pennant since 1914, but he still hopes to win one more flag before he retires from the active end of the game and to this end he plans to make one of his greatest bids this year, despite the fact that the Yankees again appear to have the field outclassed. Three of Mack's aces will be veterans, Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker and Eddie Collins. Cobb recently re-signed after having his salary cut from the huge sum he received last year.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—They're still in the Coast League, these terrifying Seals, but they are making their admirers giggle in glee as they trounce our Pirate stars daily. The home boys made it four out of five from the Heydler champs yesterday as they finished on the cheering side of a 7 to 2 encounter.

The Seals had Donie Bush and his players guessing this morning. Another clash of the two clubs is on the card for this afternoon. Nick Williams' club is not particular regarding the opposing pitcher, it would seem, but if the sun is shining they are likely to look at the stuff dished up by the two big aces of the Pittsburgh team—Ray Kremer and Carmen Hill. Kremer had

MONTREAL, March 22.—Pittsburgh's ice Pirates will come face to face with Old Man Opportunity tonight when they battle the Montreal Maroons here, and they are primed and determined to subdue the local skaters that they may get an ear-full of Opportunity's knock.

Although deadlocked with the Detroit Cougars in the race for third place and the last play-off and pay-off berth, the Bucs only enjoy a distinct edge in that they have one more game to play than have the Cougars—and tonight's is the game.

N. Y. COMISH TO BAR TUNNEY

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, March 22.—It has been learned through the State Athletic Commission that Gene Tunney faces suspension in this state.

The heavyweight champion in replying to the commission's request failed to give a satisfactory statement of his intentions. It was explained that Tunney failed to give the commission any assurance that he will fight at all.

Tex Rickard, who has been in Miami the past few days conferring with Tunney, has been notified of the commission's views by telephone.

the same season. Lester came within a foot or two of repeating the achievement the following day against Mike Cvengros, but his drive struck just below the top of the board and netted only a two-bagger.

BUT even if Bell did not show up as well in other cities as in Pittsburgh, particularly in hitting, he look much more valuable than High from this distance.

Andy High.

McKechnie explains that he does not intend to use High regularly at third, but will keep him for emergencies and depend upon Roscoe Holm for steady duty at third base. Holm played only nine games at third base last year and was used chiefly in the outfield, so it is evident that he has considerable to learn about third-base play.

HOWEVER, Pittsburgh fans should worry. It looks like a swell deal for the Pirates, at least.

For anything that hurts the Cardinals, or that takes any strength from them in any department, is bound to work out to Pittsburgh's advantage, inasmuch as St. Louis looks like Pittsburgh's most dangerous rival and the club that the Buccaneers will have to beat out to win the pennant again.

And that is not the only infield trouble that is going to hurt the chances of the Cardinals. That Tommy Thevenow will be able to come back and play shortstop as he did before his right foot was broken last year is by no means assured.

In fact it is whispered that grave doubts are arising in the Card camp as to whether he will ever regain his old form. He has not played a full game in this spring's practice and his foot has become so swollen that further treatment at the hands of a doctor has become necessary.

Nearly every bone in Thevenow's right foot was broken and the chances are against its ever being as strong as it was originally.

ALL OF which may mean that the Cardinals will have to use Rabbit Maranville as their regular shortstop. There was a time when that would have meant a boost for the team's chances of being a winning combination, but no fan would care to gamble very much on that possibility right now.

Rabbit Maranville.

The Rabbit himself assures the world at large that there is no cause for worry about him, that he has learned his lesson and is going to "behave." He declares that his throwing arm and his legs are in great shape and that he can't be kept off the team.

"I realize more and more," Maranville told Austin Lake, "the folly of trying to burn the candle at both ends in baseball. When I went down to the minor leagues for the first time after 15 years in the National League, I made up my mind that, if I could get another chance in the majors, I'd show something. Fortunately the Cardinals needed me and brought me up from Rochester last fall."

AS FAR as playfulness is concerned, Maranville still continues to clown on the field. He pantomimes, prances and does his old-time juggling stunts. In that respect he is irrepressible. His change, if one is to credit his own statement, has taken place off the field.

"The game isn't getting any faster," said Rabbit, lapsing into a reflective mood, "but it is getting more businesslike. The players seldom qualify as lovers of the game, for the sake of the game. They are working men now. In the old days we played baseball primarily because we loved it. Now the boys, with a few exceptions, play because they can make a better six months' pay than in some other lines of work. In the long run that serves its purpose, for the players take better care of themselves and are generally steadier. But the old scrap and dash isn't there like it used to be."

FIGHT RESULTS

At Cincinnati—Happy Atherton defeated Young Irish, 10 rounds; Buddy Lee knocked out Joe Dawson, 3 rounds; Jimmy Harris defeated Sailor Larson, 6 rounds; Sammy Tasco knocked out Howard Forbes, 2 rounds.

At Hot Springs, Ark.—Billy Peterson and Charley Nashert drew, 10 rounds.

At Miami—Artie McCann defeated Chief Wells, 10 rounds; Kai Krause scored technical knockout over Jimmy Ellis, 9 rounds.

almost recovered from his flu attack while Hill says his bad back is responding to the treatment given him by Denny Carroll, veteran trainer of the local team. In the event of a switch in his slab selection, Bush will rely on Walter Tauscher and Glenn Spencer.

BUC OFFENSE WEAK

But the fault is not all with the pitchers. The offensive of the Dreyfus entry has been quite drab in the past few days. Elmer Jacobs and Jim Ferguson baffled the Buccos as they let them down with two scant tallies in the latest success of their club.

Joe Dawson was the principal casualty in regard to the cleanup homer. Joe and Oil Smith were bearing down on the cool-headed boy when the youngster took a proverbial toe-hold and swung from the ground floor.

What it takes to make a man pipe-happy, P.A. has!

TAKE a piece of paper and write down all the things you like in a smoke. Then buy a tidy red tin of P.A. and check the tobacco against your list. Open the package and release that tantalizing P.A. fragrance. Load up and light up. One thrill now follows another. You're ready to believe all the fine things you've heard about P.A.

Cool as a jury-foreman, rising to speak. Sweet as his words: "Not guilty." Mild as your interest in a civil suit. Mild and mellow, but with that rich, satisfying tobacco-body that only the world's most popular brand can offer. You can't seem to get enough of tobacco like this!

The proof of the puffing is in a pipe packed with P.A. Go get some now and see what a real companion your pipe can be when you put it on the right ration. Just around the corner is a store where they hand out pipe-joy in tidy red tins. Your cue-to-contentment is to get around there now.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 22.—(AP.)—Individual and two-men team bowlers from a half-dozen Eastern and Middle Western states failed to effect any changes among the leaders in the American Bowling Congress tournament.

The day's best score was barely good enough to rank the standings board. C. Mallet and P. Grau of Benton Harbor, Mich., rolled into tenth place in that event with 1242.

NEW YORK, March 22.—(INS.)—Willie Hoppe continues to draw away from Allen Hall in their exhibition 600-point three-cushion billiard match here. By winning the fifth and sixth blocks, 50 to 23 and 50 to 29, Hoppe increased his total to 300, as against Hall's 205.

One of the notable features of the annual tournament of the American Duckpin Congress, which will be rolled on the Haus alleys, North Side, from April 9 to April 21, is the large entry list of feminine teams. More women bowlers will compete in this event than ever before in the Pittsburgh district and some keen competition is expected. Entries will close midnight Saturday at American Duckpin Congress headquarters, 923 Fulton Building, Pittsburgh.

meet in the semi-final with Jimmy Belmont of Braddock and Eddie Raven of the North Side have been matched for the second event. Jackie Rodgers and Young Nanci are in line for the opener. All of the bouts will be over the eight-round route.

The McKeesport club puts on a hot windup between those two keen home-town rivals, Teddy Welch and Phil Scelio tonight. They are booked for 10 rounds at 143 pounds and the fans scent a real grudge contest. Frank Gordini of Hazelwood and Ken Hargraves of New Kensington will box the semi-final bout. Billy Carter of Connellsville and Jimmy Belmont of Braddock will meet in the second event and Tony Azzara of the North Side and Bobby Luke of New Kensington will open the bill.

A complete team of local boxers is entered in the national amateur junior championships, which open in Detroit tonight and will be completed tomorrow night.

Tod Morgan defends his junior-lightweight title against Bruce Flowers, New York Negro, in Boston tonight.

Jim Buchanan of Charleroi, manager of Willie Davies and Young Taylor, has added Jack McFarland, Wilkinsburg featherweight, to his stable under a three-year contract, and already has some matches in line for him. He wants to match him with the winner of next Monday night's U. S. Carpentier-Mike Dundee battle.

The boxing show held for the benefit of the striking miners, under the auspices of the Lawrenceville Triangle Club recently netted more than $700, which will be used to purchase foodstuffs which will be delivered direct to the neediest cases.

Grange Joins Hospital List

Universal Service.

NAVAJO, Ariz., March 22.—C. C. Pyle's Los Angeles to New York Marathon is proving a tough grind, not only on the runners, but on the officials as well.

Latest of those to join the sick list is Harold (Red) Grange, former Illinois football star and co-worker with Pyle on the foot derby. Grange was brought into this town in advance of the runners, suffering heavily with tonsilitis. He was taken from the land cruiser America to the hospital car, where he was immediately placed under care of a physician.

Andrew Payne, leader until yesterday, also is suffering with tonsilitis, and is running with his throat badly swollen and apparently in serious condition.

Arne Souminen, Detroit medico, retained first place in the grind with an elapsed time of 112:50:45 for the 651.8 miles from Los Angeles by running second to Ed Gardner, Seattle, on the 41.8-mile lap yesterday from Holbrook to Navajo.

Olli Wanttinen, New York's 96-pound Finn, proved that he is recovering from "shin splints" by reaching the Navajo control in 6:56, bringing his elapsed time to 155:22:32.

Nestor Erickson, Portchester, N. Y., walked the entire route between Holbrook and Navajo, but kept sixth position with an elapsed time of 121:20:37.

Earl Dilks, New Castle, Pa., finished sixth yesterday after pressing Gardner through three-fourths of the lap. Dilks' elapsed time was 135:14:15. The leaders:

Arne Souminen, Detroit	112:50:45
Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla.	115:15:45
John Cronick, Saskatoon, Saskatchewan	115:50:15.
Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, England	117:44:41
Veight Hofstater, Manistee, Mich.	122:51:35
Nestor Erickson, Portchester, N. Y.	124:20:37
Ed Gardner, Seattle	126:19:36
Phillip Granville, Hamilton, Ontario	127:01:50
J. Salo, Passaic, N. J.	127:26:06
William Kerr, Minneapolis	131:57:54
Earl Dilks, New Castle, Pa.	135:14:15
Louis Perrella, Albany, N. Y.	136:09:45
Joseph Wilson, Oakland, Cal.	137:27:51
Henry Swaboy, York, Ontario	138:02.28
A. Constantineff, Toronto, Ontario	139:55:05

NEW CASTLE, Pa., March 22.—Interest in the attempt of Earl Lin Dilks, local entrant in the coast-to-coast race now in progress, is increasing here. Today employes of the Pennsylvania-Ohio Electric Company sent a telegram of encouragement to the runner at Navajo, Arizona. Indications are that telegrams of encouragement will be sent regularly from now on as the runners approach the Eastern part of the country.

DARTMOUTH RETAINS HAWLEY AS COACH

HANOVER, N. H., March 22.—(AP.)—Jesse Hawley will return to Hanover next fall for his sixth year as head coach of Dartmouth football provided his Chicago business does not interfere, Harry Heneage, graduate manager of Athletics, announced today.

As in the past, Heneage explained, no contract has been signed. The offer was merely extended and accepted with the usual understanding that Hawley might withdraw if business conditions became too pressing.

a corresponding change in Schooley's attitude toward gaining Pittsburgh representation in a new major league.

In discussing the prospect of a new major hockey league today Schooley said that the reaction to the Sun-Telegraph's original announcement that a new loop was being considered had been surprising. Within a week after its publication, he said, he was approached by hockey enthusiasts in four cities who expressed a desire to become charter members if a new major league was to be formed. Although he volunteered no confirmation, Schooley did not deny that at least two of the four applications to membership in the new league were from hockey interests now exercising franchises in the National Hockey League. Financial backing, too, has been volunteered by men who regard the establishment of a second league as a logical, intelligent move, Schooley said, and the prevailing opinion is that the ice game, like baseball, will enjoy real health only when two major circuits are in operation.

BUCS LEAGUE WEAPON

A rush to get in on the ground floor on any hockey movement is something of a novelty, but explanation is found in the fact that it is common knowledge that Schooley was the guiding hand in the organization of the United States Amateur Hockey Association, one of the most successful ice loops ever formed anywhere.

The recent action of the National League heads in vetoing the transfer of the Pirates is seen as proof that the National League moguls realize that the organization of a second major league is imminent, and that they are out to fight such a movement. Many men well informed on hockey are of the opinion that the Pirates are to be kept in Pittsburgh as a protective measure, and that it was furtherance of plans for a second league that blocked the transfer of the local club.

The report that Horace Townsend, present owner of the Pirates, is to turn over part of his ice holdings to other Pittsburghers is scouted, but it is likely that the National League will continue to use the Pirates as a weapon in the fight to keep a second major league from gaining a foothold here.

and team spirit having been the outstanding feature of the Cubs' exhibition games.

"I gave up a good man in Adams," McCarthy said, "but I got a better one in Cuyler. There isn't anything a great ball player can do that he hasn't done for us since reporting. He not only has been invaluable as an individual, but has given much of his time and the benefit of his experience to the young players. If Cuyler hasn't strengthened the Cubs immeasurably, then I don't know what I am talking about."

in a signed article in the Sun-Telegraph the other day, in which the good doctor reviewed the season's work and outlined his reasons for the team's success.

"Dr. Carlson is on the right track when he stresses the value of playing the ball instead of the man," Freund said in commenting on the article. "The man-for-man game and the five-men defense are mostly the bunk and have robbed the game of its best features. The team that plays the ball instead of the man figures to outscore its opponent and at the same time play the sort of a game that will appeal most to the spectators. The man-for-man style of playing is a negligible one in that it is dull and lacks initiative. Imagine two boxers both fighting a defensive fight and you have a deadly parallel.

"DURING its great season, Pitt scored more than 40 points oftener than it tallied less. Of course, its opponents also scored heavily, but Pitt had the superior offense, knew it and utilized it. In other words, it was a go-getter and you can't beat that stuff in any sport. Coach Carlson had his men playing the ball constantly, or switching and taking out the man nearest to them instead of running wild and wasting energy trying to stick close to their respective opponents. The old teams did this successfully and any of the teams of today can be successful by copying Pitt's methods. I am confident Pitt's success will induce other coaches to follow in its footsteps next season and better basketball all the way round will result, to the greater satisfaction of the onlookers."

THE coming of the New York Celtics for a game with the former Morrys in the Duquesne University gym Saturday night has the local basketball fans all steamed up and Joe Goldman, who is handling the arrangements, is wondering how he is going to be able to handle the crowd. The Dukes' gym will hold only about 1,500 fans, including those who will have to avail themselves of standing room—and that isn't enough. All of the basketball players and fans regard any exhibition by the Celtics as an education in the sport and the unusual interest in this game, therefore, is not to be wondered at. Incidentally, the former Morrys, who have been playing together all season as the Cyclers of McKeesport, are in fine condition and primed for the battle and figure to make matters very interesting for the famed American Leaguers. If the latter team should have an off-night—watch out!

A FAN at Motor Square Garden last Monday night pulled a pippin. The card was not up to snuff for action and during a particularly dull moment the mad wag yelped so it could be heard throughout the hall:

"Say, this would be a swell place to hold a fight!"

A LENGTHY letter comes to hand from Jim Buchanan, manager of Willie Davies, who shellacked Young Chapple in the Motor Square ring last Monday night and boxes Billy Kelly at Scranton next Monday night. In it, Jim tears to bits pieces sent out for the papers by the manager of Luis Carpentero, the Filipino flyweight of Toledo, alleging that Davies is afraid to box Luis again and that Willie got all the breaks in their two bouts, et cetera, et cetera.

The letter is too long to reprint, but the gist of it is that it ridicules the plaint made by Manager Thatcher that Carpentero scored four knockdowns over Davies at McKeesport, stating that Davies has not been down that often in all of his 120 professional fights; points out that the judges didn't even split on the McKeesport decision and that Davies beat Carpentero so handily in Canton that the Filipino's manager had to come out with an alibi that Luis was suffering from lumbago.

As for drumming up a third bout between the pair, Manager Buchanan says he'll rematch Davies with Carpentero only when the latter learns how to fight without using his head in billygoat fashion. He says Carpentero repeatedly butted Davies in their two meetings and he won't run the risk of having it happen again, nor will he be a party to another match so long as Carpentero's handlers keep on prating about what Luis might do to Willie the next time.

"Why do they keep picking on Davies all the time?" Buchanan asks in his letter. "It looks as if they can't get a fight with anybody else. Let Carpentero beat somebody and get a reputation before he comes running around to us again."

HOCKEY

Victory tonight will give the Pittsburghers a one-game lead over the Detroiters with only one additional game remaining on each's schedule; victory will almost put the Pirates "in."

The Pirates' chances for a triumph here were enhanced on Tuesday night when the Canadiens won and took first place out of the reach of the Maroons. As a result of the Canadiens' clinching the top berth, all the locals have to gain in tonight's fray is a lot of exercise.

Provided the Bucs beat the Maroons, a tie in their game with the New York Rangers at Pittsburgh will give them play-off series eligibility regardless of what Detroit does in its meeting with the Boston Bruins Saturday night. Should the Pittsburghers lose tonight, they will have to defeat or tie the Rangers while Detroit is losing. Should the Pirates lose to the locals and Detroit win on Saturday, the Bucs will be eliminated from the play-offs regardless of what they do against the Gotham sextet.

Who said you couldn't do anything about the weather? If spring be warm or chilly you can protect yourself with the new HANES Lightweight Union Suit

MARK TWAIN would still find many people who talk about the weather—but few who never do anything about it. Thousands of men have stopped shivering in nainsook when north winds blow in the springtime. They're no longer suffocated by winter underwear when sudden warm spells come.

HANES has given them a new lightweight knitted union suit—specially designed for all kinds of spring weather. Knitted from full-combed yarn. Soft, fine. Made to fit all over by two measures—trunk and chest.

Buttons sewed on with plenty of good stout thread. Reinforced buttonholes that are made for buttoning. Short sleeves. Three-quarter or ankle length. Rayon trimmed throughout. Absolutely guaranteed—every thread, stitch and button. Examine this garment at your dealer's. Look for the special HANES Gold Label. The price is only $1.50 the garment. If he hasn't it, write to P. H. Hanes Knitting Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

3/4 of the Highway Police questioned said, "Saves us sore muscles"

THE MEN whose job it is to keep the highways safe are famous for their courage, their daring, their defiance of hardship, strains, danger.

In every state they represent the pick of its hardiest specimens. Their bodies must be strong, quick, supple to respond to the sudden emergencies they are constantly called upon to face. And yet they have to do their work under conditions that would lay most men up with colds, rheumatism, stiff, strained muscles.

How do they keep themselves free of these ailments?

We put this up to the men themselves. Three-quarters of the number questioned said, "We use Sloan's."

Everywhere—the chief reliance of hard workers

And everywhere you get the same answer from people whose work keeps them out in bad weather or brings a heavy strain on their muscles. They swear by Sloan's Liniment.

Used after exposure to wet or cold, it prevents chilling, colds, stiffening of the muscles. And it brings the quickest, surest relief for every kind of muscular pain, rheumatism, sprains and bruises.

Read this statement from a policeman who has served on the Philadelphia police force for twenty-seven years: "As I have used a considerable quantity of Sloan's Liniment in the last few months and received almost instant relief, I think it my duty for the sake of humanity to recommend it to others. It gives me great pleasure to recommend Sloan's for all pains in the back and legs, as I do a lot of walking and am exposed to all kinds of weather." William R. Christy, Sr., 1933 Master Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

And this from a brakeman on the Chicago and Northwestern who was suffering agony from a sprain and a wrenched ligament:

"I fell off the top of a box car on my left arm, spraining it and tearing the ligaments loose. I suffered considerable pain for about forty-eight hours. I got a bottle of Sloan's Liniment. It relieved the pain right away. It is now fifty-three hours since I was hurt. I have no pain at all to speak of. The swelling has nearly all gone down. I think it is the best liniment I have ever used. I suggest that anybody having a sprain get a bottle and apply it according to directions." Harry M. Hall, Belle Plaine, Iowa.

Everyone should have Sloan's Liniment always on hand—for immediate use in case of emergency. Apply liberally—but without rubbing. Right away you feel a glowing warmth—a quick, powerful stimulation to the circulation which breaks up congestion and sweeps away germs and poisons. The pain stops because the cause of the pain is gone. Use it for:

Rheumatism
Sciatica
Lumbago
Neuralgia
Lame Muscles
Stiff Neck
Colds and congestions
Sprains and bruises

One of the Highway Police who said, "We swear by Sloan's to ward off the results of exposure and strain." It's the best ever to knock colds, prevent rheumatism, limber up lame muscles, and relieve the pain of sprains and bruises.

Here's what the company doctor of one of the big railroads says of Sloan's: "People whose work exposes them to strain or to damp and cold usually suffer from a good deal of muscular soreness. We find that Sloan's gives them quick, positive relief."

Rail Union Explains Why Men Prefer Seven-Day Jobs

By B. C. FORBES

WHY do railway employes prefer the seven-day work week?

The international president of the International Association of Machinists, A. Q. Wharton, of Washington, D. C., writes:

"We desire to commend you for the publication of your articles dealing with the problem of the seven-day work week.

"It is quite obvious that the question of increased production, hours constituting a day's work, seven-day week, daily, weekly or monthly earnings and unemployment, are questions so closely interwoven that reason and justice demand joint consideration of the questions above enumerated, if the problem is to be solved in a manner conductive to the welfare of society as a whole.

"I am enclosing a statement from one of our local organizations which was approved by the members, and trust that the sentiments expressed therein will suggest another article on the subject of the seven-day week."

FROM the Atlanta lodge of the same union comes this communication, signed by William J. Purdie, vice president, and Paul Chipman, recording secretary:

"In the recent discussion of the seven-day week in your column several railroad executives made the statement that their employes preferred the seven-day week jobs.

"Now, Mr. Forbes, do you believe that the normal-minded human has no desire or ambition in his soul to be a little more than a mere automaton?

"One executive states that the question resolves itself into a question of wages, and he is right. Skilled mechanics who work in railroad shops get less wages than hod carriers and other unskilled or semi-skilled workers in other occupations; and on top of that, the frequent shutdowns and lay-offs which are the bane of railroad shops make their yearly income (which is the only one they have) away below the proper standard of an American citizen as set by the U. S. Bureau of Labor.

"This spectre of depleted income is what causes the men to scramble for the seven-day jobs, because the employes working seven day per week know that they are the only ones they can rely on as being regular (and even this number is gradually being reduced by the increased power of the larger locomotives of today).

"Let the railroads make an honest, serious effort to stabilize employment in their shops, rotate the working on Sundays and holidays among the various employes so that all would have to take their turn, pay a proper wage for a five-and-a-half-day week's work, and the seven-day question will take care of itself.

"Where there is a will there is a way.

"Thanking you for the publicity given, and the attitude you have taken on this question."

PRESIDENT J. J. BERNET, of the Erie Railroad, sends this breezy expression of his attitude on the whole subject:

"The condition of railroad workers is constantly improving. Based on my own experience, and being somewhat old-fashioned, I am not so much concerned about a man being kept busy.

"The facts are that human nature has not changed much since the days when I worked 12 and 13 hours a night every night of the year. I did it from choice because those were the better-paying jobs. We find that the senior men usually bid in the jobs that permit them to work the most days of the year, so that the propaganda that is being carried on does not seem to be so well-grounded."

ARE the public prepared to pay, are the stockholders willing to give up the money that the doing away with seven-day work week would involve?

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, March 22.—The cotton market opened steady today at a decline of 1 to 3 points in response to rather indifferent Liverpool cables and a favorable view of the weather map. Offerings were comparatively light. There seemed to be some trade buying, and the market soon steadied up on a moderately active demand from commission houses and recent sellers. May advanced to 19.46c, while October sold up to 18.98c, or about 6 to 9 points above yesterday's closing quotations. The market was steady within a point or two of these figures at the end of the first hour.

NEW YORK, March 22.—(INS.)—Clearing house statement: Exchanges, $1,260,000,000; balances, $126,000,000. Federal Reserve Bank's credit balance, $80,000,000.

SELLING DRIVE HALTS RISE OF STOCKS

NEW YORK, March 22.—(AP.)—The violent upward movement of stock prices, which has been under way almost uninterruptedly for two weeks, came to a sudden halt in the middle of today's stock market, when a general selling movement swept through the list. Early gains of $1 to $10 a share were substantially reduced, or wiped out, and in many instances converted into losses, several of which ranged from 5 to 12 points.

The reaction, which followed an early upswing in which more than a score issues, including General Motors and Radio, had been lifted to new peak prices, was not associated with anything in the day's news. It was precipitated by a resumption of bear attacks, which were facilitated by an unusually long ticker delay, making for confusion and uneasiness in brokerage house circles.

Trading was conducted at a furious pace, with every indication by the end of the third hour that the day's sales would cross the 4,000,000-mark for the first time in the history of the exchange.

Radio, which had been the leader in many of the recent wild upswings, was the first to crack, plunging from 158½ to 146 before sufficient buying orders could be mustered to stem the tide of selling. General Motors fell from 181¾ to 177⅝, General Electric from 148 to 145, United States Steel common from 152 to 149¾, Dupont from 372 to 366, Collins & Aikman from 106 to 97, International Match preferred from 116½ to 112¾ and Greene Cananea Copper from 128⅞ to 122⅞.

Rossia Insurance crashed 12½ points below last night's final quotations and Houston Oil, Timken, Air Reduction and several others sold down 4 points or more.

A growing speculative relief that the market's technical position has been weakened by the recent advance, coupled with fears of a huge increase in federal reserve brokers' loans to be announced after the close of the market, undoubtedly accelerated the selling movement.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 22.—The raw sugar market was quiet early today. Prices were unchanged at 4.55c.

Circulation of 44 March notices had a depressing effect on raw sugar futures. Prices were generally lower throughout the forenoon. The market opened 3 points lower to 1 point higher, with the July position again relatively steady on covering, but the whole list weakened under more active March liquidation and selling of the later position by houses with Cuban connections. Continued inactivity in the spot market and disappointing cables seemed responsible for early selling pressure. Prices at midday were 1 to 6 points net lower.

No improvement was noted in demand for refined sugar. List quotations were unchanged at 5.80 to 5.85c for fine granulated, but second hand sugars were still obtainable at 5.75c.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, March 22.—(AP.)—Activity and strength of some railroad and public utility obligations were the features of the bond market today. Trading continued fairly active and prices generally followed a firm trend.

Over-subscription was reported of the $17,867,000 Wabash Railway 4½s offered this morning.

Several railroad issues reached new highs, among them St. Paul 5s, New Haven 4½s and Union Pacific 4½s. Illinois Central 4¾s and Mobile and Ohio 4½s were at their previous highs. Renewed demand for Erie 5s lifted the price to near the high level.

Columbia Gas and Electric 5s were outstanding among the utilities, reaching new high ground at 101¼, with heavy demand. Philadelphia Company gold 5s sold at 101¼ for the first time this year.

Convertible issues continued strong, with Andes Copper Mining 7s rising more than a point to a new record high at 131½. Pathe Exchange 7s, however, displayed softening tendencies.

Foreign obligations were steady, but some of the leaders were inclined to heaviness. Colombia 6s were fractionally lower on the eve of offering of the new $35,000,000 issue for that republic.

U. S. government bonds showed little change.

NEW YORK, March 22.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, March 22.—Influenced by lower quotations at Liverpool and by favorable weather for the new domestic crop wheat values here averaged lower today in the early dealings. Liverpool advices said Argentine wheat shipments are expected to be large this week. Opening at ⅛c decline to ⅜c advance, Chicago wheat later showed losses all around. Corn, oats and provisions were likewise easier, corn starting ¼ to ⅜c down and afterward sagging a little more.

In the face of an apparent pause in demand at Liverpool and price declines there, whereas upturns were due, the Chicago wheat market today met with pre-selling on the part of commission houses. Meanwhile, auspicious growth conditions for winter wheat in the United States were likewise a bearish factor, but on the other hand figures were circulated showing that the world's available wheat supply had decreased 19,568,000 bushels during February, compared with an increase of 22,573,000 bushels the month previous and with a decrease of 7,647,000 bushels in February last year.

Corn prices went lower early with wheat and as a result of heavy selling to realize profits. Resellers of corn in Europe were reported to be offering corn cheaper than the offerings from the United States. Pressure from the new Argentine crop was represented as at least a temporary bearish influence.

MARKET SHOWS FIRM TONE

There were no noticeable changes in quotations on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange in the first half of the session today. Trading was fairly well scattered, with business being restricted to a comparatively small volume.

Yesterday's gain in Carnegie Metals was retained by the stock but dealings in the issue showed a marked falling off. However, traders favoring the issue appear confident of their position in the stock and point to the betterment in mining shares on the "big board" as indicating further advances in Carnegie.

Miscellaneous manufacturing stocks were firm but changes were very small. Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt was a small fraction higher with the stock showing signs of scarcity and at the same time evincing very little disposition to break away from the recent trading range. United Engineering was also firm. Standard Sanitary was unchanged on the opening at 34⅝, while National Fireproofing preferred was up a fraction at 23. Fuels were dull, continuing to ignore the strength in one or two of the oil stocks in New York.

Armstrong Cork was quiet at 65, the price at which it sold yesterday. This represents a decline of 2 points from the figure at which it appeared on the board last Tuesday. The Armstrong "rights" sold at 3½ as compared with initial sales at 4.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Preliminary figures for February indicate a total gain of 3,940,000 barrels in stocks of crude and refined oil products, against a gain of 1,521,000 barrels in January, according to the American Petroleum Institute statistics. Final figures for January, as completed by the Bureau of Mines, showed a total gain of 12,115,000 barrels in all classes of oil stocks.

Western Electric Earnings.

All of the company's stock is owned by American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Bankers Trust Company.

Commemorating its twenty-fifth anniversary on March 30, the board of directors of the Bankers Trust Company of New York, increased the annual dividend from $28 to $30 a share. In expectation of such action, based on the bank's large and steadily increasing earnings during the last few years, the price of the company's stock has risen from $754 12 months ago to $1,000 a share at the present time. The board at the same time declared an anniversary bonus to all employes of 5 per cent of their annual salaries.

Radio's Dividend Outlook.

While reports persist of Radio Corporation stock being placed on a dividend basis soon, no official information is available as to the approximate date of dividend inauguration. It has, however, been authoritatively intimated that when such action is taken it will be in line with the conservative policy of the management and with the idea of permanency. It is rumored in outside circles that the initial disbursement on the common will not exceed $4 or $5 a share annually. According to usually well-informed interests, Radio will show net income of between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000 for the quarter to end March 31 or equal to slightly more than $2 a share on 1,155,400 common shares after preferred dividends. This will compare with $4,276,964, or $3.46 on the common in the fourth quarter of 1927, ordinarily the most profitable period of the year and only $126,176, or 22 cents a share on the preferred, in the first quarter of 1927.

To Curb Osage Development.

Oil wells brought in on the Osage Indian Reservation will be restricted to an output of 14 barrels per day, according to a decision of Secretary of the Interior Work. In addition, the secretary has decided to withhold the leasing of 1,600 acres on the reservation. Action was taken as a result of a meeting at Interior Department today between Secretary Work and a committee of Tulsa oil men, who told the secretary that wholesale production and leasing of Osage oil lands would hinder action of Seminole oil producers to curb overproduction there. Restriction of production on the Osage reservation will be enforced until Secretary Work determines overproduction has passed, when wells again will be allowed to produce full.

Canners Order Tin Plate.

Prospects for larger pack of canned goods than in 1927 are indicated by heavier specification for tin plate. Mill operations have increased to 85 per cent of capacity against recent 80 per cent. Both producers and consumers of tin plate are concerned over price of pig tin, which has advanced from low of 54 cents to 57 cents per pound, New York, on heavy sales totaling 3,000 tons for the week. Little spot tin is now available for metal for nearby delivery.

Market Highly Nervous.

General Motors got away to a fast start today and sold into new high ground at the opening. Later the initial price was bettered considerably, but heavy selling made its appearance and there was a sharp setback. Selling was thought due to fears of a heavy increase in brokers' loans, which will be made public late this afternoon. Profit taking was evident in many sections of the list, but there was good support in most cases. Traders who have been following the long side of the market are well entrenched financially and are in a position to withstand a considerable reaction. The list was highly nervous, however, and with the tape running 25 to 30 minutes behind actual dealings on the floor of the exchange, there was a noticeable disposition to withdraw from the market, at least until the loan statement is out of the way. Some of the big commission houses were advising their clients to protect their profits and it was apparent that a lot of traders were following the suggestion.

Atlantic Refining Company probably will be the first company to use the lines of the National Transit Company to ship crude oil westward from the Atlantic seaboard, according to information from Oil City, Pa. Based on present plans Atlantic's refinery at Franklin, Pa., will receive part of its crude supplies from Philadelphia when the proposed plan of shipping crude westward is started by National Transit. Present prices for Venezuela and West Texas crude oils delivered in Philadelphia should make this practice profitable to Atlantic.

Tax Reduction Prospects.

Despite the fact that income tax receipts have been slightly larger than expected, the fact that Congress has made large appropriations will leave less of a margin that might be devoted to tax reduction, it was learned at the Treasury in Washington today. While all figures have not yet been presented to Secretary Mellon, those received indicate the Treasury estimate of available money for tax reduction may be slightly less than anticipated in December, it was said. This estimate, however, is tentative, it was explained, as tabulation of all receipts is not as yet complete. Tomorrow, however, Secretary Mellon expects to have finished the report, which will be forwarded to Senator Smoot, as a barometer for proposed tax reductions.

It is expected March earnings will exceed the $60,564 reported for March, 1927, so that first quarter earnings will compare favorably with net before taxes of $110,841, reported for the first three months of 1927. Company's business in steel and aluminum boats has shown a large gain over last year and the company has recently closed a large order for body stampings for Nash Motor Company.

The figures are after all charges, including depreciation. Six of the companies showed larger earnings than in 1926, while profits of the remaining five were lower. Those showing gains were Eureka, Illinois, Indiana, Prairie, Southern and Southwest Pennsylvania. Reduced earnings were reported by Buckeye, Cumberland, National Transit, New York Transit and Northern.

Outlook for the steel industry was never better, said Charles M. Schwab returning from a seven weeks' trip abroad. He said: "I have been an optimist for some 40 years and see no reason for changing my views now." Mr. Schwab will go to England in April to receive the Bessemer medal recently awarded him, as recognition of his contribution to the advancement of the steel industry.

Continental Can.

Continental Can made a new high record on the stock exchange, selling above 100, a belated recognition that it had been out of line with its chief competitor, American Can. In 1927, Continental Can earned $7.55 a share, against $4.11 for American Can, and the average earnings on Continental Can for the past seven years were equal to $6.64 against $3.47 on the present capitalization of American Can. The dividend return on Continental is at the rate of $5 per annum against $2 on American Can. The outlook for 1928 business for both companies is extremely bright because of diminished stocks carried by packers at the close of 1927 and the strong demand for containers in prospect during all of the current year.

Seminole Output Lower.

The Seminole area for 24 hours ended at 7 a. m. today produced 192,219 barrels of crude oil, against a peak of 527,400 barrels made on July 30, 1927, and 191,509 barrels on Wednesday, this week. Today's output is the lowest since February 12, 1927.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, March 22.—(AP.)—The curb market, buoyant in the morning, became reactionary at noon, profit-taking sales causing numerous recessions. The list presented the picture of a number of new issues showing record high prices and of extreme declines in those leading yesterday's advance.

Caterpillar Tractor, Consolidated Dairy, Mavis Corporation, Kinnear Stores and New Orleans and Great Northern reached new highs. Celanese moved up about 5 points and Deere & Co. soared nearly 10.

Casein slumped 5 points, Celotex and Auburn Auto about 2 each and Grand Stores nearly 4. Insurance Company of North America, which reached a new high yesterday, was forced down 1¾ points, while Fire Association of Philadelphia rose 2 points to a new high at 76.

The utilities showed the same irregularities. Blackstone Valley, Electric Bond and Share and Middle West Utilities were under pressure, support apparently having been transferred to Northern Ohio Power, both power securities issues and United Electric certificates, all of which reached new high ground.

The oils were stronger, Standard of Kansas again touching a new high. Southwest Penn Pipe Lines advanced 4 points.

BRAWN GIVES WAY TO BRAIN, HERR SAYS

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER,

NEW YORK, March 21.—The mechanization of industry does not reduce the demand for men, but tends to reduce the marketability of brawn and heighten the need for brains, according to E. M. Herr, president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, which has been a leader in providing motors with which to do the onerous, muscular work formerly performed by human beings.

Mr. Herr, who combines the qualities of a forceful executive with the technical expertness of an engineer, told me that the current talk to the effect that the more efficient use of machinery has deprived men of work, is fallacious. He said that unemployment due to supplanting of men by machinery would be only temporary, as each important forward stride increases the opportunities for gainful employment.

BRAIN REPLACES BRAWN

Referring to the revolution that has taken place in industrial practices, Mr. Herr said:

"There is a new concept of the dignity of human labor. Work is no longer hard in the sense that it used to be. Motors now perform the heavy jobs of lifting and conveying. There is, accordingly, a decreasing demand for men with mere physical strength, who can only perform the tasks which machines now perform. Men are needed to exercise skill in directing and controlling inanimate forces.

"I frequently tell my own men that it is not enough for them to do what machines can do. They must do what machines cannot do, and that is exercise intelligent discretion in an emergency, machines can only repeat the processes which were planned in advance. Men of brains can meet unexpected situations. And yet people say that Televox, the mechanical man recently made by R. J. Wensley, of our engineering department, can replace human beings. That is not true. Remarkable as is the mechanical man directed by the human voice, he can only do the specific things he is equipped to do."

OUTLOOK HOPEFUL

As to the business outlook for the immediate future, Mr. Herr is distinctly hopeful.

"I see no reason for a letdown in business," he said. "Money is still abundant, and the desire of men in business to take advantage of good opportunities, when presented, continues unabated. I look for no abnormal boom, but for a decided improvement in general business during the latter half of the year, if an unsatisfactory political situation does not develop.

"As for the electrical industry, more lies ahead than has thus far been accomplished.

"The first great development in this industry was in lighting; the next in the field of power. These have been fairly well accomplished. The next major expansion in the use of electricity will be in industrial heating. Some progress has already been made in this line, but much more is still to come.

"Big developments are ahead for electricity, although they will probably not be revolutionary in character. They will be of a technical nature, such as the use of higher voltages to increase the distance over which electrical power can be projected. And new uses for electricity will be found as people begin to depend more and more upon it. Control of electrical plants from distant points by radio is already feasible."

NOT OUT OF RADIO

The foregoing reference to radio led to the question whether the Westinghouse company, which, like its chief competitor, the General Electric Company, has long held a substantial stock interest in the Radio Corporation of America, had liquidated its holdings in the recent spectacular rise of radio shares. Mr. Herr replied emphatically in the negative, saying:

"We are not getting out. We still see great things ahead for the radio industry."

Mr. Herr stated as his belief that the public utility industry will continue to expand at the present rate.

The Westinghouse company finds its foreign business satisfactory. Exports amount to 15 per cent of the total business. The chief foreign competition is from Germany, England, Belgium and Switzerland.

Mr. Herr said that progress in the electrification of railroads had been slower than was anticipated 22 years ago, when Westinghouse made its first electric engine. Lack of capital on the part of the railroads, lack of flexibility of electrical equipment, and marked improvement in the efficiency of steam locomotives were cited as barriers to the rapid growth of this part of the industry. Mr. Herr anticipates that there will be a greater expansion in the electrification of railroads in the future than has been the case in the past, but believes that this will constitute one of the minor activities of the electrical industry.

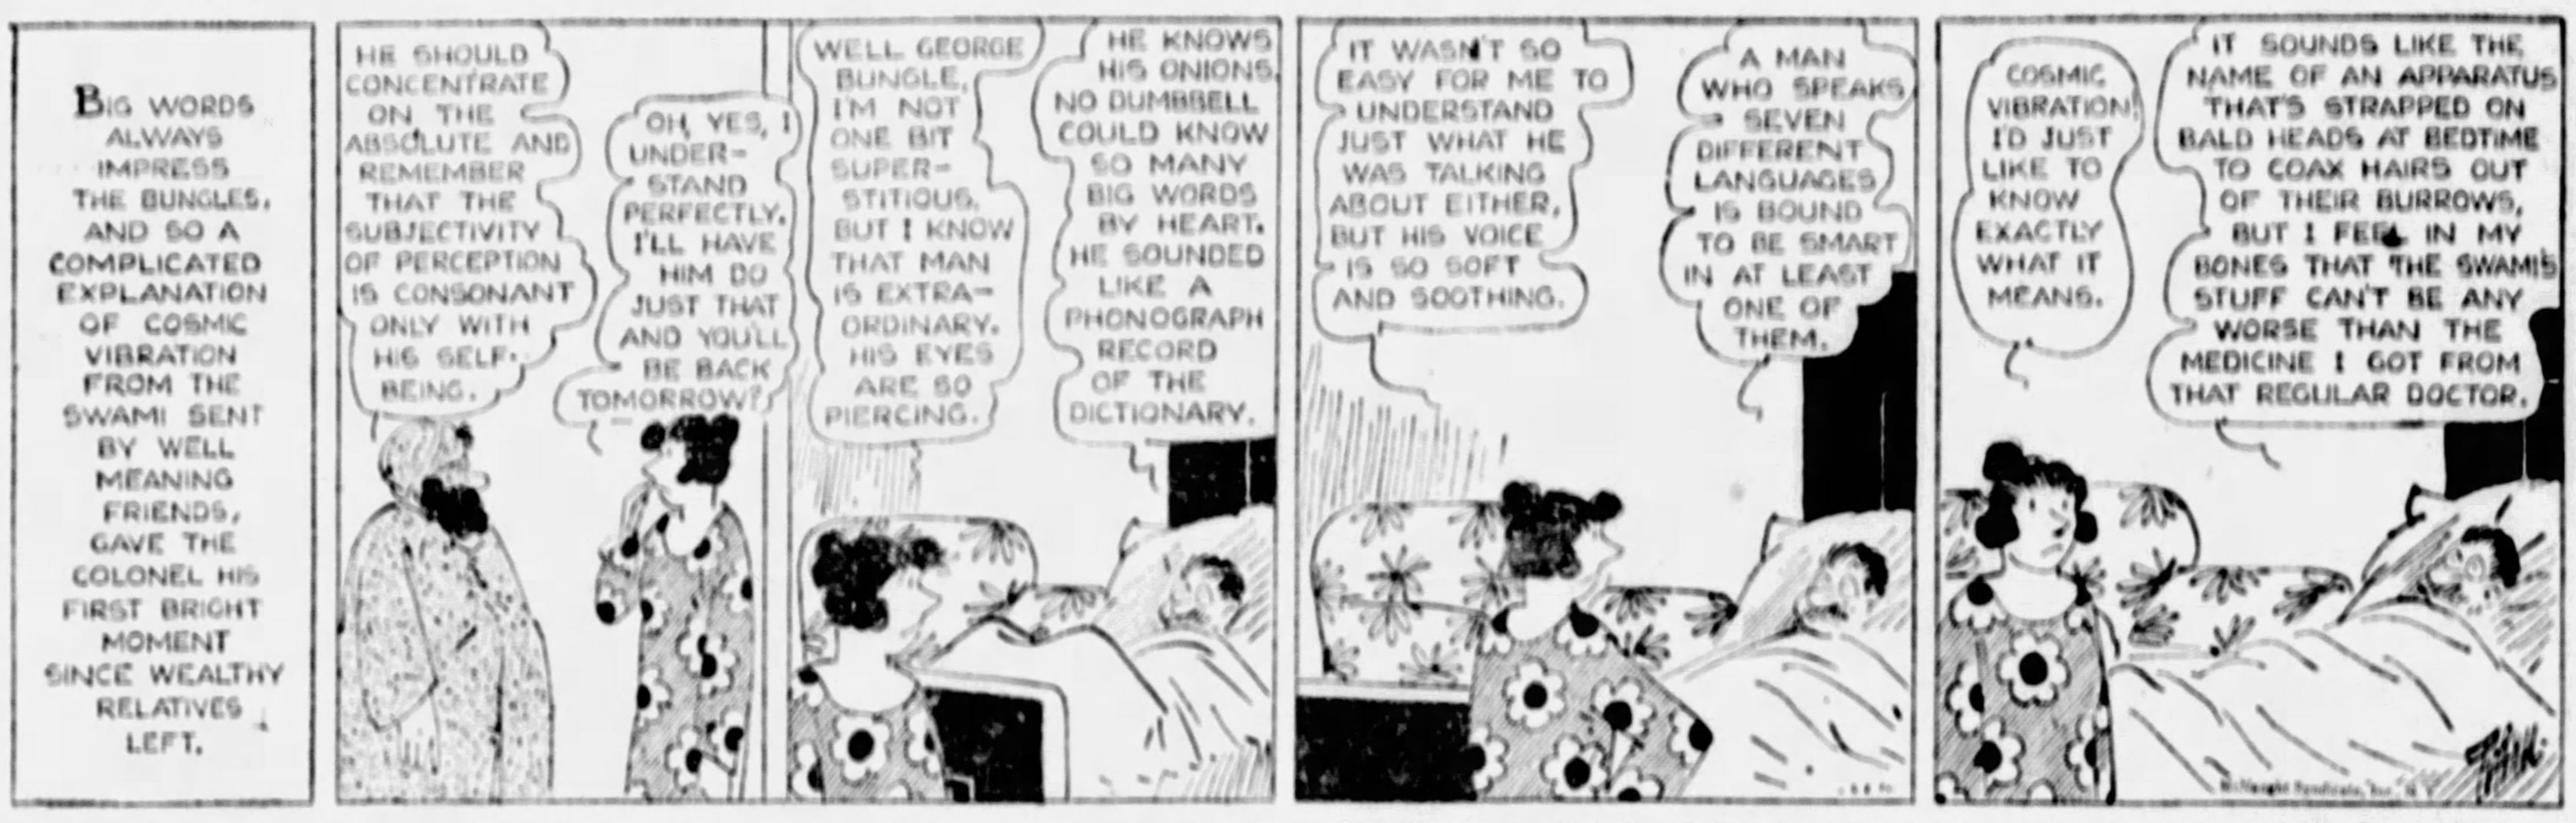
THE BUNGLE FAMILY . . . . Sold



BIG WORDS ALWAYS IMPRESS THE BUNGLES, AND SO A COMPLICATED EXPLANATION OF COSMIC VIBRATION FROM THE SWAMI SENT BY WELL MEANING FRIENDS, GAVE THE COLONEL HIS FIRST BRIGHT MOMENT SINCE WEALTHY RELATIVES LEFT.
HE SHOULD CONCENTRATE ON THE ABSOLUTE AND REMEMBER THAT THE SUBJECTIVITY OF PERCEPTION IS CONSONANT ONLY WITH HIS SELF-BEING.
OH, YES, I UNDER-STAND PERFECTLY, I'LL HAVE HIM DO JUST THAT AND YOU'LL BE BACK TOMORROW?
WELL GEORGE BUNGLE, I'M NOT ONE BIT SUPER-STITIOUS, BUT I KNOW THAT MAN IS EXTRA-ORDINARY. HIS EYES ARE SO PIERCING.
HE KNOWS HIS ONIONS. NO DUMBBELL COULD KNOW SO MANY BIG WORDS BY HEART. HE SOUNDED LIKE A PHONOGRAPH RECORD OF THE DICTIONARY.
IT WASN'T SO EASY FOR ME TO UNDERSTAND JUST WHAT HE WAS TALKING ABOUT EITHER, BUT HIS VOICE IS SO SOFT AND SOOTHING.
A MAN WHO SPEAKS SEVEN DIFFERENT LANGUAGES IS BOUND TO BE SMART IN AT LEAST ONE OF THEM.
COSMIC VIBRATION! I'D JUST LIKE TO KNOW EXACTLY WHAT IT MEANS.
IT SOUNDS LIKE THE NAME OF AN APPARATUS THAT'S STRAPPED ON BALD HEADS AT BEDTIME TO COAX HAIRS OUT OF THEIR BURROWS, BUT I FEEL IN MY BONES THAT THE SWAMI'S STUFF CAN'T BE ANY WORSE THAN THE MEDICINE I GOT FROM THAT REGULAR DOCTOR.

The elephant is suffering from cirrhosis of the giver.

The request to throw dollars on the drum has been answered by the gentle tingling of pennies in the tambourine.

Every good Republican is supposed to unpark a dollar and toss it in the air like that arrow in the poem. Many years later you will discover it in the hip pocket of a friend.

Col. Roosevelt gave one hundred dollars. He still thinks he's a hundred Republicans.

Don't fail to take advantage of this bargain sale in honesty. The cost of corruption was $160,000.

The price of scouring, cleansing and ironing is only a dollar.

Elections Association Asks for Charter Here, Following Excellent Work,

The application of the Allegheny County Elections Association for a charter gives assurance of a permanent watchdog of the polls, which can be regarded as an excellent move to keep the ballot pure in Allegheny county,

This organization is deserving of the heartiest commendation of honest voters for its co-operation and assistance in bringing to light evidence of crookedness of many election boards. Hundreds now are under indictment and awaiting trial, accused of crimes against the voting laws at the September primaries. That it did not consider its work complete after the first indictments were made is indicated in the presentation this week of evidence of criminality involving 42 additional boards.

An organization of this kind should be able to prevent a lot of cheating at the polls merely through the knowledge the potential crook will have that its existence means there is a watchful eye on him. He will have before him the certainty of being called to account if he does wrong.

The only danger with respect to such extra-legal bodies as the elections association is the possibility of some clique or selfish political interest getting control after the enthusiasm of the first campaigns has passed. This is not unusual. The people should have a better safeguard against cheating at the polls than this excellent organization.

They will have an opportunity this year to demand voting machines. An amendment to the state constitution which would permit machine voting comes up in the fall.

Familiarize yourself with the advantages of machine voting. Learn of the experiences of other states where they are in use, and you will be prepared to vote in favor of the amendment,

Pass Porter Bill For Drug Victims

Congress has nothing more important than to pass the Porter bill, to establish two Federal "narcotic farms" where the government's dope-addict prisoners can be cured of their disease, which is the cause of their crime,

Today these unfortunate human beings are dumped with other prisoners in the overcrowded Federal penitentiaries at Atlanta and Leavenworth. There is no opportunity to treat them.

Crime records show that nearly 50 per cent of the men who leave prison return again to their former activities. Nearly 100 per cent of the discharged addicts get back into crime. As Representative Porter says:

"How is it possible for an addict to go straight if he is turned out of prison with a gnawing appetite for a drug which costs him from $6 to $8 a day, and with no money to buy it?"

In Leavenworth and Atlanta there are now 6,500 prisoners—they were built to house 3,000. We need more Federal prison space. Distinguished judges and criminologists are agreed that the way to get the additional space is to build the Federal narcotic farms provided for in the Porter bill.

Right-of-Way in Congress Goes to the Lobbyists

Representative Huddleston, of Alabama, turned upon Secretary of the Navy Wilbur and berated him for being on the floor when the Navy bill was being discussed.

Either branch of Congress ought to be glad of the presence of the member of the Cabinet whose appropriation bill is being debated.

So far as the public knows, there was no record of any protest against the presence of Ex-Senator Lenroot and Ex-Senator Thomas on the floor of the Senate when that body was debating whether it would authorize a Walsh committee to investigate the power trust.

Yet these gentlemen were the paid legislative agents of the power trust, hired to defeat that investigation — which they succeeded in doing. They were enjoying the privilege of the Senate floor accorded to ex-members.

It shows who has the right-of-way in Washington.

Don't Forget Installments

Much Buying in a Hurry

When somebody tells you there seems to be a "let-up in public buying" and asks how you explain it, say to the inquiring soul:

"Don't forget buying on the installment plan. It is an excellent thing for the country, enabling you to enjoy a thing while you pay for it."

This plan came with a rush all over the country at the same time. Everybody bought an automobile, radio, phonograph, washing machine, new set of furniture, heaven knows what, all at the same time.

It takes some time to clear up these installments. Some that do not buy quite so freely now are busy with their installments. In a little while they will start buying again.

Guilt Is Non-Partisan

No doubt a Democratic campaign deficit would have welcomed tainted oil money as eagerly as the Republican politicians welcomed it. Greed knows no party line.

The bigger question is, do the people want to be sold out by any party?

Until they object the process is likely to continue.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

America's Heroes and Legends

AFTER all, what have these famous "debunkers" of American history accomplished? It still appears very clearly that George Washington carried the Revolution on his shoulders and prevented royal and aristocratical rule from becoming the settled system on this side of the Atlantic, although he did swear occasionally, and although he neither did, nor confess that he did, cut down the cherry tree.

It appears, too, that the freedom of this country from foreign control was won by bloodshed and battles fought by common men, and would never have been achieved without them. The attempt to obscure the glory of those whose struggles won the battles by belittling them and leaving their names out of the books, belongs to the Don Quixote order:

"'Stand, cowards!' cried he as loud as he could' 'Stand, you ignoble creatures and fly not basely from a single knight who dares encounter you all!' At the same time, the wind rising, the mill sails began to move, which when Don Quixote spied, 'Base miscreants,' cried he, 'though you move more arms than Briareus you shall pay for your arrogance!'

"So, covering himself with his shield and crouching his lance, he rushed with Rosinante's utmost speed upon the first windmill he could come at, and running his lance into the sail, it whirled about with such swiftness that the rapidity of the motion presently broke the lance into shivers and hurled away both knight and horse along with it, till down he fell, rolling a good way off in the field."

It seems as if the stories, or "legends," if you please of Paul Revere, the Minute Men, Concord Bridge, Nathan Hale, Ethan Allen, Bunker Hill, Moll Pitcher, Patrick Henry, Paul Jones, Jackson at New Orleans and dozens of others that have been to America what Rome's heroic legends were to Rome and England's to England, appear to the debunking knights of reformed history like the windmills to Don Quixote. They are treated as if calculated to instill a love of war in the hearts of the young, whereas in fact they only instill a love of country.

But love of country, patriotism, is the biggest of the windmills. Fortunately it is also the most perilous to those attacking it, and more perilous in proportion as the attack is underhanded. Imagine America without patriotism—handed over to the tender mercies of "internationalism."

It is not true, either, that teaching patriotism promotes war. On the contrary it is, like preparedness, a dissuasion from war, by making a people united, self-confident, and formidable in the face of aggression. Every great idea, every great cause, must have its symbols. Never in the world's history has this been otherwise, and never can it be otherwise, because the principle is rooted in human nature.

The symbols of a nation are, on one hand, its great, heroic characters, whether of war or of peace, and on the other hand its patriotic legends which are the nursery tales of its youthful citizenry. It is foolish as well as unfair to pick such things to pieces and destroy their meaning by hypercriticism, by criticism that is without sympathy and consequently without comprehension.

The history of every people has gone through the same mill, and always with the same ultimate result. I recall that in my college days all the great legends of ancient Rome were thrown into the gutter by theoretical reformers of history who had a formula which demonstrated that such things naturally could not be true But alas for this formula! It appears that the legends were just as true as they were intended to be, just as true as human memory mingled with human jealousies and human weaknesses will allow anything to be that has to be handed down by word of mouth, while they really must have contained the gist of the matter It seems that monuments and documents can lie as well as tradition, and when they lie they do it more cunningly.

There appears to be no crying need for making American heroes look small.

A Grateful Guest?

DO YOU find that one of the hardest things you have to do as a departing guest is to express your appreciation of the entertainment afforded?

Do you find yourself mumbling something in a tone which the host or the hostess cannot understand?

Or do you have a set form which you use on all occasions?

Have you said those farewell or "take-leave" phrases so many times that they come from you glibly and without any real feeling?

Why not try being natural at such times?

That is all that is necessary if you are not being deceitful.

If you cannot accept the hospitality of a friend in the right spirit you have no moral right to be his guest.

It should not be difficult to express a sincere feeling of pleasure and gratitude for an enjoyable afternoon or evening.

It does not need special combinations of words to convey honest thought—just be natural.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

Some Ships

SOME ships are glad when, after many days
Alone with only sky and wave and wind,
They gain safe anchorage in tranquil ways
Where fickle Nature smiles, serene and kind.

And others joy in challenging the sea,
As all its fury, all its force they mock;
Their timbers groan with greed of mastery
While still they shudder from a great wave's shock.

The ship at anchor knows one fleeting phase
Of ocean's wonder, while brave vessels bear
Their scars with triumph after cruel days,
Initiate in all moods the sea can wear.

Tales that are Told

A Trouble-Saver

A TIRED-LOOKING man entered the office of a small firm of printers and, approaching the manager, said:

"I want a list printed. Suppose you write it down as I tell you."

The manager made ready, and the other said:

"'Yes, I'm sure I locked the front door.' Have you got that?"

"Yes, but I don't understand."

"Never mind; don't interrupt till I have finished. Are you ready?"

"Yes."

"'I turned out the light in the bath-room.'"

"All right; I've got it."

"'The kitchen windows are fastened.'"

"Yes."

"'The dog is chained up.'"

"Yes."

"'The kittens are in their basket.'"

"Yes."

"'No, I do not smell smoke.'"

"Yes"

"'No, that is not our dog barking; it's the one next door.'"

"Yes."

"Well, I think that's about all. You see, my wife asks me those questions every night just as I am getting into bed, and if I had a printed list I could show to her it would save lots of trouble. Besides, it injures my lungs to answer them. Have the list printed as soon as possible, please."

The Scot Paid

AN IRISHMAN and a Scotsman decided that each would ask a question, and that the one who asked a question he could not answer himself should pay for drinks.

The Irishman had his turn first and asked: "Why is it that a rabbit's hole has no earth on the surface of the ground, the earth being just as smooth around the entrance to the hole as the rest of the ground?"

"Ah," said the Scot, "I have you now. This is your question. Answer it."

"Sure, the reason is because the rabbit starts to dig the hole from the other end."

"Yes," said the Scot, "but how does he get to the other end?"

"That's your question," observed the Irishman.

Passing the Time

"AND is there a train between the 5:40 and the 6:57?" asked the eccentric-looking woman of the booking-office clerk.

"Yes, madam; three."

"At how many stations does the second one stop?"

"Only one," said the mystified clerk; "but—"

"Now, how many trains leave between six and seven?"

"Excuse me, ma'am," said the worried clerk, who had been answering similar questions for nearly a quarter of an hour, "but you can't possibly be catching all the trains you are asking about!"

"I know that, my good man," answered the questioner; "but, as I've got to wait for a train, I thought I'd just see if you railway men really do know your business. I sometimes doubt it!"

All to the Good

THE babel of conversation died away as the local sponger opened the door of the bar. Instinctively the customers picked up their glasses and moved away.

The sponger held up a hand.

"It's all right, boys," he said reassuringly. "I've a good mind to sign the pledge tonight. I just want to know what you advise."

"It would be a very good thing," said one of the company emphatically.

The sponger glared at him.

"In what way?" he inquired.

"Well," came the reply in clear, biting tones, "just think of the money your friends would save."

Couldn't Miss It

A VERY bored Englishman, attended by his valet, was traveling from New York to California.

On the first day of the railway journey both were mildly interested, though critical. On the second both were restless. On the fourth they were faintly impressed but limp with weariness.

"So this is America, sir," said the valet. "Fancy their having made such a stir about Columbus discovering it. My word! I don't see how he could have avoided it!"

O. O. McINTYRE

In London

LONDON, March 22.—This is a first visit to London in winter and after a topsy turvey trip across the choppy channel, the town seemed to droop in the mantle of thin gray. Yet the heart beat of London has a brisk murmur like an overtone of solidity and is stimulating and marrowy,

London has an imperial stodginess that is more noticeable coming out of easy-going France. It accentuates the difference between a republic and a monarchy. Here you feel it would be lese majeste to whoop in the street or "dunk" sinkers in your coffee. Dignity is enthroned,

Even servants appear superior and you sense a faint sneer behind their "Very good, sir." A hotel courier corrected me the first shot. I told him to carry a black valise. "You mean the portmanteau?" he inquired. I was tempted to reply: "I mean the black valise and how are His Majesty's knock-knees?"

Taxis start here at a shilling—some one and some six—and are higher for long hauls than in New York. Coming out of Victoria one sees the usual London hubble-bubble—bobbies with comic chin-strapped helmets, newspaper vendors encased in billboards with screaming banners, bonneted old Cockney women selling Scotch heather for a ha'-pence.

Also crippled service men, their breasts glittering with decorations, selling matches; the kerb toy hawkers; the stream of lumbering busses criss-crossed with gaudy ads; the bleary and bloated froth-blowing coves who stagger from pub to pub; spats, monocles and silk hats at noonday.

There is something comfortable about London's sooty-striped buildings so mellow and formidable with age. They give forth an aura of durability typical of Britain. As I passed the parliament buildings Big Ben was booming the noon hour.

I had the driver circle down to the Thames embankment entrance to the Savoy. The benches are still dotted with the hopeless unemployed who seem to be England's eternal economic question marks living on the government "dole." The American is immediately spotted by beggars.

The English hotel servant cannot understand why the newly arrived traveler does not wish to be refreshed by "a pot of tea." He unlocks your door, deposits your baggage, throws back your curtains and inquires: "Tea, sir?" A refusal sends him away in a sort of silent bewilderment. I really wanted a pitcher of ice water, but I'm only in London for a few days. It takes a week for the ice water idea to percolate.

In the midst of a bath, the telephone rang, and thinking the voice inquiring, "Are you theah?" was a jesting American acquaintance, I replied: "With my hair in a braid." I did not know whether it was a sample of British humor or not, but I was immediately switched over to the hairdressing parlor. The voice, it developed, was that of the telephone operator wanting to know if I wished mail sent up. My attempt to be merry confused her. She thought I wanted my hair braided, I suppose.

* * *

After luncheon at the renowned Simpson's on the Strand I set off for Piccadilly Circus—the Times Square of London—and managed to cross it twice safely despite the left-handed traffic. There seems to be more Americans here than in Paris and shops are busier. Prices are sky high.

* * *

In Burlington Arcade I dropped into a vest establishment—the "By Appointment to H. R. H. the Prince of Wales" sign tricked me—for an evening vest. The clerk insisted I wanted a weskit, but I held out with native Missouri stubbornness for a vest. He quoted me the price of each sample for a half dozen lot. His psychology won, for I bought three, whereas I wanted one. I should have started off just looking for a vest button and let him talk me into a complete vest.

* * *

At dusk a fog as thick as pea soup sprung up and back of the Savoy a courtyard singer faintly discernible in the mist was chanting a dolorous song to the accompaniment of a wheezy accordion. All that was needed was a mournful hound dog to voice his woe and that body in the Thames would be the boy friend.

Conversation

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

Grenville Kleiser, well-known author and writer, gives some good advice about talking.

An immense amount of time and energy is constantly wasted, he says, by useless talking.

Some of the essentials that he mentions for a good conversationalist are as follows:

The first condition of good talking is clear, well-ordered thinking. If your thoughts are in confusion your speech is liable to be non-effective.

Talking should not be a verbal nor vocal contest, but a mutual exchange of ideas. Monologues are tiresome.

Don't give advice. Advice costs nothing and is usually worth what it costs.

Don't exaggerate. It is easy to let your desires and feelings overcolor your views. Give the impression of under statement rather than over statement and what you say will have more effect.

Keep your voice low. A low voice is not only an excellent thing in a woman, as Shakespeare says, but it is good for anybody. Many people are trying to talk to, because they constantly bawl so loud. They drown out their opponent with sound.

Don't tell unduly long stories. Don't make a reputation for being a "funny" man. This will put you in the class of lightweights. Stories are like seasoning or salt. They should be very judicially intermingled and it is easy to get too many of them.

Do not interrupt another. Wait quietly for your turn to speak.

Don't relate lengthy personal experiences. A thing may be interesting to you because it is about yourself, but it is usually boresome to other people. Don't be impatient. When you observe that your listener does not wish to be convinced change the subject.

Don't argue. Argument never convinced anybody. Suggest.

Sedulously avoid controversial debate about religion or politics. People have made up their minds about these questions beforehand and do not welcome your attempt to change their opinions.

Be careful about ridicule. People who are not sensitive about anything else are very quick to resent this.

Speak clearly. Do not mumble.

Conversation is more than idle exercise or ornamental superfluity. Its purpose is to keep the other party amused and interested. It is the wire upon which runs the current of your electric personality.

Everybody should know how, to keep up these wires and to gently stimulate another's interest.

If you don't know how to talk, learn. Devote a certain part of your time to intelligent and diligent practice in the art of small talk. It pays.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD.

MLLE. SCHUMAN-HEINK went to her first party at the home of Mme. Lillian Nordica in London. She had such poor clothes the butler didn't want to let her in, but Mme. Nordica, when she heard which guest was at her door, gathered the bewildered little girl in her arms, and Schuman-Heink never saw so much beautiful white satin or so many diamonds. And Nordica gave her her first party dress to wear at that party. "I was so fat they had to squeeze me into it," says the singer.

And Schuman-Heink still has that very dress, carefully preserved.

Mlle. Madeline Renaud has won the lasting fame of being made a member of the Comedie Francaise. She is very, very happy. Her salary is $30 a week!

Some American stars who sing oochie coochie songs, in tights, and receive Rolls Royces, chinchilla coats and Hope diamonds will have a good laugh over that.

But Mlle. Renaud, if she heard them, would still be proud and happy.

These are dangerous days and women can't be too careful.

Judge Mullan, hearing the $250,000 alienation suit against the Countess Soranzo, in New York, says that a prospective bride should notice how her fiance performs around the baby carriage when she meets him pushing one through the park.

If she doesn't meet him with one, she could take him into the park, and test him with a borrowed baby buggy to learn if he is already married.

Now that she thinks of it, even the countess must agree it's a capital idea!

Mme. Schumann-Heink attributes her success to the help of four women: A nun who discovered her voice when she was 12, a French prima donna who volunteered to instruct the singer without cost, another prima donna who brought her to America, and a fourth who made her a fixture at the Wagnerian shrine.

A prima donna who gives other women the credit for her success!

Buying clothes isn't half as much of a bore as it used to be. New York's fashionable shops have headless, legless, armless models of their wealthy customers, labeled with the names of the ladies. On each figure is written the lady's peculiarity of form—"lop sided in h[illegible]," "shoulder out of focus," etc. It does away with tiresome fittings.
